and a third youth is being sought in connection with the stabbing death April 22 of a 29-year-old Green Bay barber whose body was found Monday afternoon on an abandoned farm south of Seymour.

Outagamie County authorities were conferring with Dist. Atty. George Greisch this morning relative to charges in the death of Ronald Wayne Burnham, 1331 S. Chesnut St.

Sheriff's investigators said they obtained signed statements early today from the two youths now in custody in Appleton. Investigators said they believe the third youth, also 17 and a brother of the 19-year-old, may have fled to the Shawano area Monday night. A police pickup bulletin was sent to area counties early today. The brothers formerly lived in the Seymour area.

Two employees of the Seymour Flour Mill found Burnham's bound and bloody body about 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Drive to Farm

Robert Mill, owner, and Valentine Lasecki, both of the Seymour area, drove to the abandoned Milton Peters farm to pick up a load of grain from the barn. The farm is situated about 3½ miles south of Seymour on State 55. Peters lives one-half mile north on another farm.

Mill and Lasecki found the body lying on the cement floor of an old, frame, 12-by-14-foot milkhouse-pumphouse attached to the southwest corner of the barn. The men had to walk through the milkhouse to get into the barn in which Peters stores hay and grain.

Investigators, who did not learn identity of the body until 10:20 p.m. Monday, at Appleton, said Burnham's feet and wrists were bound with binder twine, similar to twine found in the barn. He was lying face up, his hands tied behind his back. There were two stab wounds, one in the abdomen and the other in the chest. The jackknife which authorities believe was used in the stabbing apparently pierced the heart, it was determined through an autopsy at Appleton Memorial Hospital early today.

Burnham's body reportedly bore signs of a beating. The body was clothed in gray slacks, new loafers, a yellow shirt and a beige sweater.

There was no identification, and if Burnham had a wallet, it was missing. Several Seymour area residents were allowed to view the body at the scene, but they were not able to establish identity until Burnham's sister, Mrs. Camille Platkowski, 1370 Dousman St., Green Bay, arrived at the Appleton Memorial Hospital morgue Monday night. Mrs. Platkowski was brought Turn to Page 5, Col. 7

100 Injured, 600 Arrested

New York City Police Evict Students From Barricades

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved in force onto the Columbia University campus at the administration's request early today and routed student demonstrators—sometimes violently—from five barricaded campus buildings to end a week-long sit-in.

More than 100 youths were injured and 638 were arrested, including about 100 women, in the 75-minute police action that began about 2:45 a.m. Fifteen police men were injured, and one of them was hospitalized with a heart attack.

Initial Concessions

The demonstration, which began April 23 basically as a protest over construction of a gym in a park adjacent to nearby Harlem, had faded into one of rebellion against Columbia disciplinary procedures after the students won initial concessions. At its height, perhaps 600 to 700 youths were involved, including some nonstudents. The Ivy League school has 27,500 students.

During the police sweep a crowd of nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the Ivy League campus overlooking Harlem. The bystanders clashed with police after the last of the demonstrators had been taken away.

Police used nightsticks freely in breaking up the large crowd and moving it off campus. Mounted police rode into the surging mass and a large coffee shop window on Broadway was broken in the press of the crowd.

Dan Pellegrin, president of the student council, announced to a crowd near the library that he was calling a student strike starting today.

In a statement the university announced cancellation of classes this morning but added, "It is hoped that a number of the afternoon classes can be held."

University President Grayson Kirk told a 6 a.m. news conference that he called police because the university "has been paralyzed by the illegal acts of a minority of its students, aided and abetted by an unknown number of outsiders."

Kirk declared that granting the protester's key demand of amnesty from punishment "would have dealt a near fatal blow not only to this institution but to the whole of American higher education."

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary told newsmen the university had asked police to mobilize about midnight. He said he had witnessed the eviction operation and added the police had done "an excellent job."

By 5:30 a.m. the large crowd had broken up and students stood around in small clusters discussing the night's activities. At one point many on the campus chanted: "Kirk must go, Kirk must go."

Earlier Kirk had offered a four-point proposal to resolve the deadlock saying he would accept a student-faculty-administration committee to act as a court of appeals for any punishment meted out to the protesters.

The sit-in by 500 to 600 demonstrators began in protest over construction of a controversial gymnasium in a nearby Harlem park and over the university's ties with the government related Institute for Defense Analysis.

Monday saw scattered clashes among students and between police and demonstrators as classes for the university's full 27,500 student body were canceled for a second day.

Rockefeller Enters Presidential Race

Candidacy Spurred by U.S. 'Crises'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A buoyant Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller shrugged off his inhibitions about fighting for the Republican presidential nomination today and arrayed himself openly as an active candidate against Richard M. Nixon.

The 59-year-old millionaire New York governor told a nationally televised news conference that he did so in response to the pleas of many people and because of his own concern about "the gravity of the crises" that confront the American people.

Only 40 days ago, Rockefeller had surprised political observers by announcing he could not bid for the nomination but was available for a draft, if the party wanted him.

'Correct Decision'

He told reporters today that he thought he had made "the correct decision" then and was making "the correct decision now."

In the brief formal statement in which he announced his candidacy, Rockefeller said he was motivated by "the dramatic and unprecedented events of the past weeks."

When asked whether he had been influenced by President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election, he said Johnson's withdrawal opened up an "opportunity for seeking an honorable peace in Asia." He did not elaborate.

Another reporter then asked whether the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King had been a factor in his decision. He replied only that "during the past week to 10 days I have been coming to this decision."

Appears Relaxed

In response to other questions, he said he did not know how many national convention delegates he had behind him at this point. "But," he added, "there is considerable fluidity among the delegates."

Rockefeller appeared relaxed and confident as he stood before a battery of political writers in his jam-packed, tennis-court-sized formal office at the State Capitol.

He was flanked by five former GOP national chairmen — U.S. Sen. Thruston B. Morton, former Rep. William E. Miller, Sen. Hugh Scott, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn—all of whom turned up to demonstrate their support for him.

Massachusetts' Edward Brooke, the only Negro serving in the U.S. Senate, also was at hand, sitting next to Rockefeller's wife.

Shortly before Rockefeller went before the TV cameras, it became known that he had sent

'What We Feared ...'

French Heart Patient Dies 51 Hours After Operation

PARIS (AP) — Europe's first heart transplant patient, a 66-year-old retired French truck driver, died today 51½ hours after he was given the heart of a young man. The new organ functioned well, doctors said, but the patient could not overcome an insufficiency of blood to the brain.

Clovis Roblain, succumbed at 10:30 a.m., never having regained consciousness after the transplant. He had undergone a nine-hour operation Saturday night.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, the head of the surgical team at La Pitie Hospital, hinted that Roblain may have been too old to weather the transplant.

"We have learned from this first attempt that technically a transplant is perfectly possible, but that we must have a patient sufficiently resistant to have a chance of success," the physician said.

Another Transplant He said his team—which had conducted experiments in a hospital basement for lack of space — would go ahead with another heart transplant "if the conditions of a patient who would undergo a transplant are more favorable."

one survivor from the seven human heart transplants which have been reported. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a 58-year-old retired South African dentist, who was given a new heart on Jan. 2.

He was discharged from a Cape Town hospital more than six weeks ago and is now reported driving his car in heavy traffic.

At a news conference, Mercadier told reporters: "What we feared has come about."

"At all times, at every conference I held before you, I told of the greatest reserves on the prognosis. I said this at the first press conference. I repeated this yesterday while moderating a little because we noted some favorable signs."

"We are sorry to have lost a patient. We are not sorry that we went ahead with the transplant."

Without Difficulty

In his first health bulletin Monday, Mercadier said that the transplant was done without difficulty, but that "neurological complications made the prognosis very reserved." He said Roblain had suffered a circulatory failure during the surgery. This temporarily reduced the blood flow to the brain, eventually resulting in death.

Roblain also encountered urinary problems, Mercadier said.

Earlier the doctors reported that Roblain, who received the heart of a 23-year-old man

Pains in Chest Force Ike's Hospitalization

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is hospitalized at this Southern California bomber base for treatment of chest pains.

He was brought here by helicopter Monday night for treatment. An evening medical bulletin said he was suffering "some chest discomfort." But his aide added, "We are not calling this a heart attack."

The 77-year-old General played golf Monday at Palm Springs, near his winter home, but a short time later called in his personal physician. The temperature reached 100 during the day.

Carried on Stretcher

Several hours later, two Army helicopters landed on fairway 11 in front of Eisenhower's home on the Eldorado Country Club course in Palm Desert, near Palm Springs. Twenty minutes later, Eisenhower was being carried into the hospital on a stretcher.

His aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, issued this statement later:

"Some chest discomfort was noted earlier today. The doctors all feel it best for a period of medical observation and bed rest."

Word that Eisenhower was ill came after he had canceled plans to greet King Olav V of Norway, who is on a state visit in California.

A source close to Eisenhower said the former President had been "pretty busy the last couple of days, and he apparently overextended himself. The activity and the heat seemed to have tired him."

Mamie Stays Home

Eisenhower's wife, Mamie, stayed at their winter home. The couple has planned to leave May 6 for their farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Although Eisenhower has been generally healthy and vigorous, he has suffered a series of illnesses since 1955.

He suffered a heart attack in 1955 while President, an attack of ileitis, an intestinal blockage, in 1956 and another heart attack in 1957. In 1966 his gall bladder was removed.

Witnesses at the hospital said he appeared pale but conscious.

At the hospital, an elevator was held on the ground floor for 20 minutes to whisk Eisenhower to his room.

As he was carried through the lobby, a nurse held a bottle of fluid running to his arm.

Schulz said, "Up to today, his general health was fine. The decision to take him to the hospital was made by several doctors. I do not believe he was suffering discomfort when he left."

Eisenhower decided not to meet with King Olav because "he didn't feel up to it," the former President's secretary, Army Lt. Nancy Jensen, said.

She said Eisenhower had been "feeling very well" in the morning when he played golf but that he broke his daily custom of going to his office on the nearby ranch of Floyd Odlum.

President Calls for World 'Paper Gold'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to approve what he termed a landmark plan to create new international money—paper gold—and coupled his request with another plea for higher taxes.

In a special message, Johnson sought approval of amendments to the International Monetary Fund's Articles of Agreement distributed to governments of the non-Communist world earlier this month.

"As one of the leaders in the formulation of this proposal ... it is fitting that the United States be one of the first nations to accept the Special Drawing Rights Plan," the President said.

Bookkeeping Entry

The new money would be in the form of a bookkeeping entry at the International Monetary Fund and would be used only to settle debts among governments. Individual Americans would never see the paper gold as the proposed special drawing rights are frequently called.

The plan must be approved by 65 member nations of the 107-Nation Fund with 80 per cent of the weighted vote.

Approval by Congress would represent a big step in this direction since the United States controls about 22 per cent of the votes in the fund.

This approval, however, will merely set up the machinery for the new money which would supplement gold, dollars and British pounds as world reserves.

Actual creation of the new money and how much to establish would take another IMF vote and require an 85 per cent majority, a percentage giving the United States and the six European Common Market countries a veto.

Administration officials foresee no opposition to the plan in Congress which has been kept advised of progress during the five years of negotiation leading to drafting of the new language.

In his message, Johnson said the new money would be needed as the United States moves to end its balance of payments deficit.

Nation's Angry Poor Ready To Back Demands Militantly

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The demands were strong, and they were voiced in blunt and angry words to top government officials. But the poor people who brought them to Washington made it clear they still expect a summer-long confrontation with the government.
"We will be back in 10 days," promised the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign, at every stop. "We will be back for their answer, not 130 strong but 3,000, 5,000 strong."
"We are going to back up our words with the most militant nonviolent direct action in this country's history," he added.
Abernathy repeatedly used "beautiful" Monday to describe the day, even though meetings ran hours behind schedule and the 130 advance troops never did keep appointments with some top officials—like Secretary of State Dean Rusk.
Various Ethnic Group
Emphasis was on the poor of varied ethnic groups from all parts of the nation—Negro, Indian, Mexican-American and white—coming together to say, in the words of one participant, "we're going to find a way to make these people do what they should do... we're tired of living the way we been living."
And while campaign leaders promised over and over again they would start no violence in Washington, many of the participants indicated they might not abide by the same rules back in their home towns.
"We are not coming to Washington again," New York's Manuel Ortiz, Puerto Rican, told Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. "This is the last time. If our demands aren't met, we will stay in those ghettos and tear them down brick by brick."
Demands Presented
Specific demands, ranging from better Justice Department enforcement of existing laws to an overhaul of the Agriculture Department's food stamp and land retirement programs were given in person to Freeman, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and acting antipoverty chief Bertrand M. Harding.

Angry shouts followed by bursts of applause rose from behind closed doors to newsmen. "It's beautiful," said Jackson, Miss., attorney Marian Wright. "They're getting up and telling it like it is."
Doing that meant meetings that ran hours past deadline, a situation that didn't seem to bother Abernathy.
"We have been waiting on the white man for 350 years," he told a rousing rally of some 1,000 people Monday night. "We just decided today we were going to let him wait on us."
"We are going to come here and stay until Congress does something about poverty in this country," said Abernathy. "Under Martin Luther King's leadership we were going to shake America. Under Ralph Abernathy's leadership we're going to turn it upside down."
The remark drew a thunderous standing ovation on a night punctuated often by such deafening bursts of applause, granted to speeches in which the participants painted vivid pictures of the conditions they claim exist.
"Migrant workers are stripped of every right as humans, forced to a life of hell on top of the earth they cultivate." "I was born in Puerto Rico and I been in this country 30 years and I am ashamed to see how my people in this country are being treated."
"A mother should be helped because she's poor, but instead she's punished."
"Mr. Eastland (Mississippi Democratic Sen. James O.

Eastland) said in Washington, D.C., that we were satisfied in Sunflower County (Miss.). But he made a sad mistake."
"Migrant workers are housed in tractor sheds and chicken coops. Sometimes the chicken coops are painted on the inside, and then they're called converted chicken coops... workers are also housed in discarded city buses."
"I don't claim to be a very religious person, because I like to see Christianity practiced, not preached."
"If they want us to believe that power does not grow out of the barrel of a gun, then they're going to have to prove it to us."
"Poor whites in the South only do what they're allowed to do. From the time we're born, we know that ain't nothing going to happen to us if we cut up niggers... we want all the middle class whites to know we're through doing your dirty work."
"I'm getting tired of being told I'm a good Indian if I keep quiet, because a quiet Indian is a sellout... I'm a young man."

but I'm a tired man, too. I'm tired of being a white man's Indian."
At least 40 of the people who accompanied Abernathy represented non-Negro minorities. "I am very gratified," said Abernathy. "Dr. King could not be more happy than I am today. It exceeded our expectations."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's decision to remain on standard time this summer has caused one major addition to the format of a Phoenix television news broadcast—the soap opera report.
Officials at KTAR-TV say the switch to daylight time in most of the nation led to a rejuggling of schedules, eliminating the NBC serial "Days of Our Lives" from the station's lineup.
To provide some relief for the loyal fans who called to protest, the station expanded its evening news to include a report of the day's events on "Days of Our Lives."

Red Forces Threatening Hue, Supply Line Smashed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen smashed three enemy forces menacing Hue and a vital allied supply line in northern provinces of South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today. The allies reported a total of 378 enemy troops killed, and light casualties of their own, in the three battles near the old imperial capital and along the main highway running north to the outposts below the demilitarized zone.

Hard fighting broke out when a regiment of South Vietnamese infantrymen ran into two or three North Vietnamese battalions—800 to 1,200 men—along Highway 1 near Dong Ha Monday. U.S. Marine tanks and armored personnel carriers drove across flat, coastal marshlands to join in, and the fighting continues for six hours.

Contact was broken just before midnight, and allied troops reported counting 130 enemy bodies.

Government Figures
Government casualties were given as four killed and 25 wounded, while the Marines reported four killed and 22 wounded.

Other South Vietnamese troops battled enemy units on two sides of the old imperial capital of Hue and reported killing 248 enemy troops in all. Details were scant on one fight, but in the other, government units said they killed 95 enemy while taking casualties of three killed and 14 wounded.

The U.S. Command's security restrictions continued to prevent publication of any information on the past week's developments in the invasion of the A Shau Valley southwest of Hue, but the command did announce that 174 North Vietnamese had been killed in the operation's first three days, April 19-21.

Six Captured
U.S. casualties in that period were 19 killed and 135 wounded, the command said. The Americans also reported capturing six suspects, 246 individual weapons and 10 crew-served weapons in the valley, the main infiltration and supply route to the estimated 15 to 20 North Vietnamese battalions around Hue.

In the Saigon vicinity, American and South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing another 58 enemy troops within striking distance of the capital. Four American infantrymen were killed and 11 wounded.

There have been recurrent reports that the Communist command is planning an encore to the Tet offensive against Saigon and other cities and towns in May.

In air strikes Monday, Force F105 Thunderchiefs F4 Phantoms blasted communication and military stores in the southern part of North Vietnam. I said they destroyed or damaged two barges, three submarines, an anti-aircraft site, a highway bridge.

Trucks Destroyed
Navy pilots reported destroying or damaging 23 trucks, six supply boats in the area around Vinh, 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

Poor weather kept U.S. bombers to 99 missions against North Monday.

Tass, the Soviet news agency said in a dispatch from Hanoi that U.S. planes flew over North Vietnamese capital and were met by anti-air fire. The action was described as an "American air raid," since the report did not mention bombing or strafing it was summed the planes sighted on reconnaissance missions.

Such flights have continued all over North Vietnam despite President Johnson's order restricting bombing attacks to the south of the 19th Parallel. The U.S. Command in Saigon refuses to comment on the reconnaissance activity.

Brooke's Daughter to Wed White Collegian in June

NEW MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — The 19-year-old daughter of Negro Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and a white Monmouth College student plan to marry in June, the student's parents disclosed Monday.
The date of the marriage between Remi Brooke and Donald R. Hasler, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Hasler of New Milford, has tentatively been set for June 22. The wedding will take place in Martha's Vineyard, Mass., Mrs. Hasler said.
Brooke is the first Negro to be elected to the Senate since Reconstruction. He is married to a white woman.
Mrs. Hasler, asked how she felt about her son marrying into a racially mixed family, commented: "It makes no difference, they're in love."
She said her son met Remi, who attends Northeastern University in Boston, at a party last year in New Milford. A friend of Donald brought Miss Brooke, Mrs. Hasler said.

Donald is a first-year engineering student at Monmouth College in West Long Branch. The couple plans to move to Boston after the wedding and he will transfer to another school, Mrs. Hasler said.

Mrs. Hasler said she and her husband have visited the Brooke family several times in Boston. "We're looking forward to the wedding," she added.
Mrs. Hasler is a Democratic committeewoman in New Milford who works for Stock Forms Co. in Englewood. Hasler is a machinist at Lever Bros. in Edgewater.

Johnson Turned Down Proposed Draft Remodeling, Hershey Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey says President Johnson has rejected a sweeping remodeling of the Selective Service System proposed by a White House advisory commission.
Instead, Hershey told a news conference Monday, Johnson approved later recommendations by a three-member presidential task force which included Hershey and which said the draft system should be left about as is.
Hershey said of his agency's influence on the task force: "We had the best kind of representation. We were able to sell them, to tell them, to educate them, whatever you want to call it."
Of his own participation on the task force, Hershey laughed and said he felt fortunate in "sitting on a court where I was the fellow being tried."
Changes Recommended
In February 1967 the commission—appointed seven months earlier and headed by former Assistant Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall—recommended sweeping changes in both the draft structure and its operation.
The next month, in a message to Congress, Johnson endorsed operational ideas including a youngest-first reversal of the order of induction, and a return to a kind of lottery system of selection.
But he withheld endorsement of the structural proposals: To centralize the system, replacing its 4,000 local boards with 300 to 500 area boards; to replace its 56 state and territorial head-

Kidnapers Ask $250,000 Ransom, but Don't Collect

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Authorities have disclosed that the wife of a rich businessman was kidnapped and held captive three days, then released unharmed.
The kidnaper had demanded a $250,000 ransom, authorities said, but never collected the ransom package.
The officials said a threatening note demanding ransom was left in the Lafayette, Calif., house from which Margaret Edith Louis, 61, was abducted last Tuesday afternoon.
She told officers she was treated well and not threatened, before she was released in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park Friday night.
Her husband owns a chain of food markets in this area.
Dist. Atty. John Nejedly said news of the kidnapping was withheld to assure Mrs. Louis' safety and to permit unhampered investigation.
Jepedly said Mrs. Louis told of a medium built man, about 45, entering the home by saying he wanted to discuss business.
The man bound, gagged and blindfolded her, she said. Then he drove her away to a place where she was kept blindfolded much of the time, but untied.
T.E. Louis, 68, returned home from work to find a typewritten ransom note.

Overall Plan for Urban Problems Needed

As things now stand, President Johnson has cancelled plans announced soon after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King for a special speech to Congress on the urban crisis and civil disorders.

The President's decision may be a wise one, for the prominence it would have given to the subject could have made matters worse if sweeping new recommendations failed in the Congress. But the nation is in need of a calm presentation of priorities for urban legislation now in the mill and of proposed substitute programs, presented within the framework of the budget crisis resulting from the expenditures for the Vietnam war. It is something the nation has a right to expect from both the White House and from the Republican leadership.

In announcing that he would not make the special address to Congress, President Johnson noted that he no longer views it as necessary because of the passage of the 1968 civil rights bill with its strong open housing section which will forbid discrimination in the sale and rental of about 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970.

But the civil rights bill is an act which deals with legal rights. The nation has before it a swirl of ghetto economic measures, those which the President sent to Congress early this year and those which have been proposed as replacements. With them, is the criticism of existing programs which have been accused of not doing the job for which they were intended and of being wasteful.

What is required is an overall plan for what can be done and what cannot be done because of the budget crisis. And the President's request for a ten per cent income surtax and the bargaining for substantial expenditure reductions in non-essential areas which has been part of consideration of the tax increase must be part of this required overall plan.

It has been suggested that the President's recognition of the tax increase-budget cutting bargaining was one of the reasons for his decision against a special message to Congress with recommendations for new programs. A failure to receive congressional approval for new programs would be a political setback. More important, it would allow the radicals of the Negro community to raise the cry of false promises.

This has been the responsible position taken on the campaign trail by former Vice President Richard Nixon, who has said he does not propose to match Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy in raising hopes which cannot be fulfilled even if it means losing the election.

Congress has before it important presidential recommendations in the fields of anti-poverty extensions, new housing, rent supplements, urban renewal, and vocational training. There also are Republican proposals for legislation in these same fields, with emphasis on involving the private economy in housing and vocational training.

What is needed now is a plan for action including an assignment of priorities and a discarding of that which has not worked, a plan written against the realities of the battle with the deficit. If such an outline does not come from the White House, the Republican leadership should accept the challenge.

Rejecting Unwanted Mail

After having received more than 100,000 protests from Americans last year about the delivery of unwanted mail of questionable taste, and sometimes of unquestionably smutty character, the United States postal authorities have devised what they hopefully feel may be a remedy.

A new anti-smut law enacted by Congress last year went into effect April 15, and entitles any person in the country to ask the Post Office Department to remove his name from any mailing list that brings him material through the postal service that is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

The law is a good one, although we may guess that it will bring costly complications as the Post Office Department administers it.

Gradualism in Vietnam

Wisconsin Rep. Melvin Laird was right in his advice — not accepted — that the Republican Coordinating Committee should not have released its policy paper "Gradualism: Fuel of Wars" at this time. In fact, the committee could have taken a hard second look at the paper before releasing it at all.

Rep. Laird, a member of the group which periodically produces position papers to set forth Republican positions, said the release should have been delayed because of the risk of setting back current administration efforts to start negotiations with North Vietnam. This would be a proper attitude for the Republican Party in these crucial days, as Richard Nixon has stated in his self-imposed moratorium on speeches about Vietnam.

But aside from this factor, the paper is a dangerous over-simplification of the complicated Vietnam issue and avoids the basic question of whether a military plunge into Vietnam fit within the proper worldwide strategy against containing communism in the first place.

The document has been described as being hawk in nature. Its authors include Neil McElroy and Thomas Gates, who both served as secretary of defense during the Eisenhower administration, and six retired generals and admirals.

The paper concludes that the United States must maintain a defense policy of providing the enemy with unacceptable risks, that the United States, not its opponent, must determine the level of military response, and that we must not

It may also provide a precedent for further reforms in the matter of unsolicited mail, and that notorious category now universally known as "junk mail." It is today virtually impossible for any living person who has left a record of his identity anywhere to avoid having his name and address exploited commercially by the compilers of mailing lists, who sell them to thousands of persons who thereupon clutter our mail boxes daily with mail that is not wanted and in our case, is rarely even opened and read.

We are tempted, in fact, to use the new anti-smut law to get rid of some of this junk laid on our own doorstep. It may not be "erotic," in many cases, but it is assuredly "arousing and provocative."

declare in advance that we will withhold any portion of our military power.

Instead of such a policy, the position paper says, the administration has been following a policy of gradualism and flexible response which only serves to build up the level of military involvement which is matched by the other side.

The committee should have stopped there. It had accurately described what succeeded in the sudden occupation of Lebanon during President Eisenhower's administration and in the confrontation with Russia during the Cuban missile crisis during the administration of President Kennedy. The trouble is that the committee tries to apply the same policy to Vietnam.

The committee seems to suggest that the United States should have unleashed all its power against North Vietnam from the very start. It says, "The shackling of our Air Force and Navy power in Vietnam affords us a striking exhibition of gradualism in action." If this is to be the position of the Republican Party, it will have to explain in the campaign this fall its earlier acceptance of an administration policy of trying only to drive out the North Vietnamese from the South and to eliminate the Viet Cong.

History's basic question about Vietnam will be much more complex. It is whether the United States should have plunged into a land war in Asia without weighing the consequences or whether the nation should react in the balance of power struggle to suit its own best interests rather than being trapped into situations which suit Russia and Red China.

I don't understand what's keeping them . . . Ho was quite specific when he suggested us coming here!

Columbia President Backs Down On Calling Police to Quell Riot

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

They say that Dean Coleman, of Columbia University in New York, is a very calm man, which is fortunate in one way. It takes a great deal of calmness to put up with what he has been putting up with, indeed it is just possible that he is too calm. Perhaps one day Ralph Hochhuth will write a play, "Dean Coleman's Calmness," suggesting that calmness is not altogether appropriate in a situation that requires rather energetic, even passionate action. The old-timers in New York recall the response of the late President Frederick B. Robinson, president of City College, who in May 1933 en route to review a parade of ROTC students, found his way barred by pacifist students. Without calling a single faculty meeting, or telephoning to the NAACP, or even consulting the National Conference of Christians and Jews, President Robinson lifted up his umbrella and struck out to his right and to his left, and eventually made his way through to the parade ground. His comment on the incident was that it had been "trivial but annoying."

Alas, even if the authorities of Columbia had Mr. Robinson's sangfroid, they could not likely get away with calling the present mess trivial, or merely annoying. Columbia University is for all intents and purposes shut down. Classes are suspended, the campus is in anarchy, student rioters control a half-dozen buildings; and (at this writing), still the police are not called in. It was resolved by the president, Dr. Grayson

Kirk, to call them on Thursday. But his own faculty, or parts of it, raised such a storm of protest, that he flinched. Why should the faculty object to calling the police in order to release imprisoned university personnel, and permit students free access to university buildings? Because the faculty, or rather a significant part of the faculty, at Columbia as elsewhere, is irresponsible. These are the people who sign manifestoes in favor of Dr. Benjamin Spock and the Reverend William Sloan Coffin when they break the law. Professor Richard Greenman, of the French department announced, in the accents of Charlotte Corday, that "there can be no education and no thought that is divorced from action." The trouble with that statement is, a) it isn't true, and, b) even if it were, it is not justification for what the authorities of Columbia have been tolerating.

Although the strikers have four objectives, two of them calculated to serve their own personal interests (they do not wish to suffer any punishment for what they are doing, rather like a graduating class of West Point asking for unconditional guarantees that they will never be scratched in action).

The most inflammatory issue has had to do with the proposed construction of athletic facilities on a public park adjacent to Columbia. The park in question is a nice stretch of green, dividing the Columbia campus from Harlem, which however is about as safe to traverse as the DMZ. It is the principal outdoor training ground for apprentice muggers, thieves and rapists. Columbia's idea was to build two facilities on the green, one of them a huge ten-million dollar gymnasium for its own students, the other a $1.6-million complex of baseball diamonds, swimming pools, and basketball courts for the exclusive use of the residents of west Harlem. Negotiations with the city began, and in due course the proposal was approved by the City Council, the Board of Estimates, the Parks Commission, the Mayor, the Assembly, the Senate and the Governor. The document probably has the signature on it of every public official this side of U Thant. The terms were that Columbia would pay a token yearly lease to the city of three-thousand dollars, would pay the cost of the public facility, and would put up the $75,000 per year estimated maintenance cost.

The militants apparently persuaded themselves and the 10 per cent of the Columbia student body that has taken charge of the university, that Columbia attempted to "buy off" the community with "separate and unequal facilities." Mr. Peter Millones, of the New York Times, sums it up: "The Negro groups do not like the different entrances for the two gyms, especially since the entrance the Negroes would use is at the bottom of the hill (the Harlem side as it happens), and the university's entrance is at the top (the Columbia side, as it happens.)" If you can still race prejudice out of that, you are qualified to join the Students for a Democratic Society.

The gym has little to do with it, of course. Why wasn't there a strike during the past ten years, when the project was inching its way through all the state agencies? Because it isn't important — any more than the assassination at Sarajevo was important. They are looking for an opportunity to rebel, and what now goes by the name of the "authority gap" is egging them on to great heights of irresponsibility for which the public does wrong to think the children responsible. The fault is that of their preceptors.

Telephone Workers Are Entitled to Better Pay

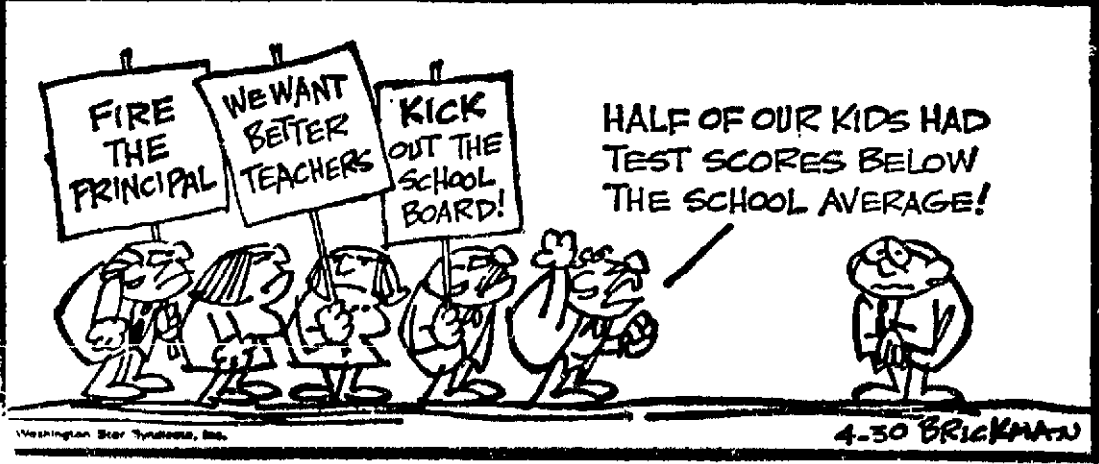

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

As an operator with the Wisconsin Telephone Company I feel I am qualified to speak on the subject of telephone wages. Top pay for an operator after six years is $85.50. This amount allows only $70.00 take home. Out of the hundred and some odd number of operators with the company there is a large number who are sole supporters for families. Our wages are allowing us grocery money and very little left over for the other living costs. The cost of living is continuing to rise and yet Mother Bell is asking us to continue at our low rate of pay. The company earnings have exceeded our pay increases by about a 3 to 1 margin. The F.C.C. is having the company cut its long distance rates by 120 million dollars because they made so much money last year. It seems only just and fair that the employees gain from this excess in earnings. Our wages, for the skills required by the company, have become grossly underpaid in recent years. Women are leaving in great numbers for just the reason of low wages. There have been instances where women started new jobs for money equal to several years of service with the telephone company. It is time I feel, that the company acts now and it certainly is unfortunate as employees we have been forced to strike for what is rightly ours . . .

State Never Had Forestry School, Now Getting Two

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The underlying assumption of the legislative act that created the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education (now the Coordinating Council) a dozen years ago was that the state probably could not support its huge higher education establishment at desired quality without the most efficient use of its generous outlay of higher education dollars.

On the whole, the CCHE has performed usefully, sometimes creatively, often courageously, in spite of the expressed or covert resistance of some of the institutional officers in the early days.

In Angus Rothwell, its executive director, it has a man of respected stature and experience in educational administration. In Walter Kohler, its chairman, it has a leader of distinction and prestige won through three successful terms as governor.

But with all that said, some observers believe they see some tell-tale signs of weakness and compromise and horse-trading in the operations of the superboard which has full control of the budgeting and program planning for what is probably the best and most ambitious tax-financed higher education program of any state of its size in the United States.

TWO FORESTRY SCHOOLS

Several examples causing doubt have arisen during the last year.

Perhaps the most suggestive is the recent action of the council approving two schools of forestry, in a state which has managed thus far without even one.

It proposes that one of them be added to the organization of the state university at Stevens Point and that the second be added at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

The whole process was accompanied by a chain of curious circumstances, not the least of which is that the spokesmen for professional forestry in Wisconsin and the spokesmen for the wood-using industries, who presumably know as much about demand for foresters as anyone, do not support the idea of even one undergraduate school of forestry, not to mention two. If anything, they suggest a graduate curriculum in forestry, which would be a modest extension of the present graduate study opportunities on the Madison campus of the University of Wisconsin.

When the idea of an undergraduate school of forestry was originally suggested, a staff report of the CCHE recommended against it as unnecessary. But that report was withdrawn, and replaced with a recommendation for two of such departments.

When Chairman Kohler, obviously skeptical, suggested that each of them might attract an enrollment of 25 students, there was no refutation. Nevertheless, the Council approved the two schools, with an apparently face-saving proviso that there should be created a kind of inter-departmental supervising mechanism to prepare curricula and exchange staff and teaching aids.

TRADING OF PRESTIGE

Viewing the record, it is difficult for the outsider to avoid the conclusion that there has been involved here the kind of inter-institutional rivalry and horse-trading that was intended to be eliminated when the legislature in 1965 reconstituted the CCHE by giving it enough citizen members to remove policy control from the institutional representatives. Some of the citizen members evidently succumbed to institutional pressures for reasons best known to themselves.

It is said that the costs of these new schools will be negligible, because the required staffs are already employed on the respective campuses. But no one who has observed government for any length of time is likely to take such assurances at face value.

If there are, indeed, 50 students a year who want to earn an undergraduate degree in forestry, the state already has a program for paying their tuition at the numerous other schools near-by already functioning. There is shown here an example of what any close observer would be inclined to classify as an educational boom-doggie.

Harris Wishes He Knew All This at 18

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What I Wish I had Known at Eighteen:

—That every day marks a fork in the road, in some little way; and that by the time the big fork comes along we have already made so many little decisions that we have no real choice left in the crucial turnings.

—That it is easier to feel than to think, and easier to feel hate than to feel love, and easier to act on hate than to act on love — and we must resist the easier path every inch of the way every day of our lives.

—That we should be firmly resistant toward ideas we believe to be wrong, but immensely tolerant toward the people who hold such ideas, never for a moment confusing the person with the idea, which is the besetting sin of bigotry in all of its manifold forms.

—That every time we use a person for our own purpose, ignoring his needs, we diminish ourselves more than we diminish him, for his is a wound that can heal, while ours is an amputation that cannot grow back.

—That our differences are superficial, and our similarities are profound; and those who are afraid to acknowledge the similarities are forced to live — and die — by the differences.

—That most of what we call "love" is a form of vanity, and that the genuine thing (far from being as common as grass) is as rare as holiness of courage or wisdom, which have a million counterfeits for every one real manifestation.

—That we learn only what becomes part of us; abstract knowledge is not only useless but dangerous unless we have assimilated it to the core of the personality.

—That human society is confined in a lifeboat, not dispersed on an ocean liner; and unless each one is permitted the same rights, he will not assume the same responsibilities, and the craft has no chance to survive.

—That "education" is not a formal discipline, but an attitude, an approach, an appetite, even a tone, that must begin in the home atmosphere if it is to be successfully translated to the outer world.

—That the two greatest threats to the security of civilization come from the absolutists" who think they know precisely what is right and wrong, and from the "relativists" who insist there is not right and wrong — for each doctrine, pushed to its ultimate, leads to death by suffocation or by disjection.

The International Order of Odd Fellows — The 49th anniversary of the founding of the Order of Odd Fellows will be celebrated in this city (Oshkosh) next Monday the 27th inst., by the members of the order resident in the Northwest.

With appropriate exercises scheduled, we find the announcement of an address to the Order, at 10 o'clock, a.m. of that day, by the Hon. T.R. Hudd, of Appleton.

Mr. Hudd is represented as a very attractive and fluent speaker, and one whom it will be a positive pleasure to hear. Upon the expiration of the Order and their friends will repair to one of the hotels, where the banquet board will be spread, and which will undoubtedly be an appropriate finale to the pleasures of the day. — Oshkosh Northwestern.

Production of M16s Costs Army More

Two New Firms Sign Contracts To Make Weapons for Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army suddenly under high-level pressure to increase sharply the flow of M16 rifles to South Vietnam troops, is paying premium prices for the lightweight, rapid-firing weapon.

Until April 12, Colt Industries Inc., was the only manufacturer of M16s. Colt's price has averaged $104 a rifle on recent contracts.

It is costing the Army far more than that—up to $316 per rifle—to bring two more firms into production of M16s.

"We are paying a premium to get the quantity and quality we want," an Army source said.

The pressure to speed procurement of M16s resulted from the decision announced March 31 by President Johnson, to turn over more of the fighting to the South Vietnamese.

Before that decision, few South Vietnamese units had M16s despite Defense Department studies that called the rifle the best "all around shoulder weapon in Vietnam," and despite repeated requests from American field commanders that the guns be supplied to the Vietnamese.

fatally injured in an auto accident, had suffered a loss in blood pressure and that brain damage was feared.

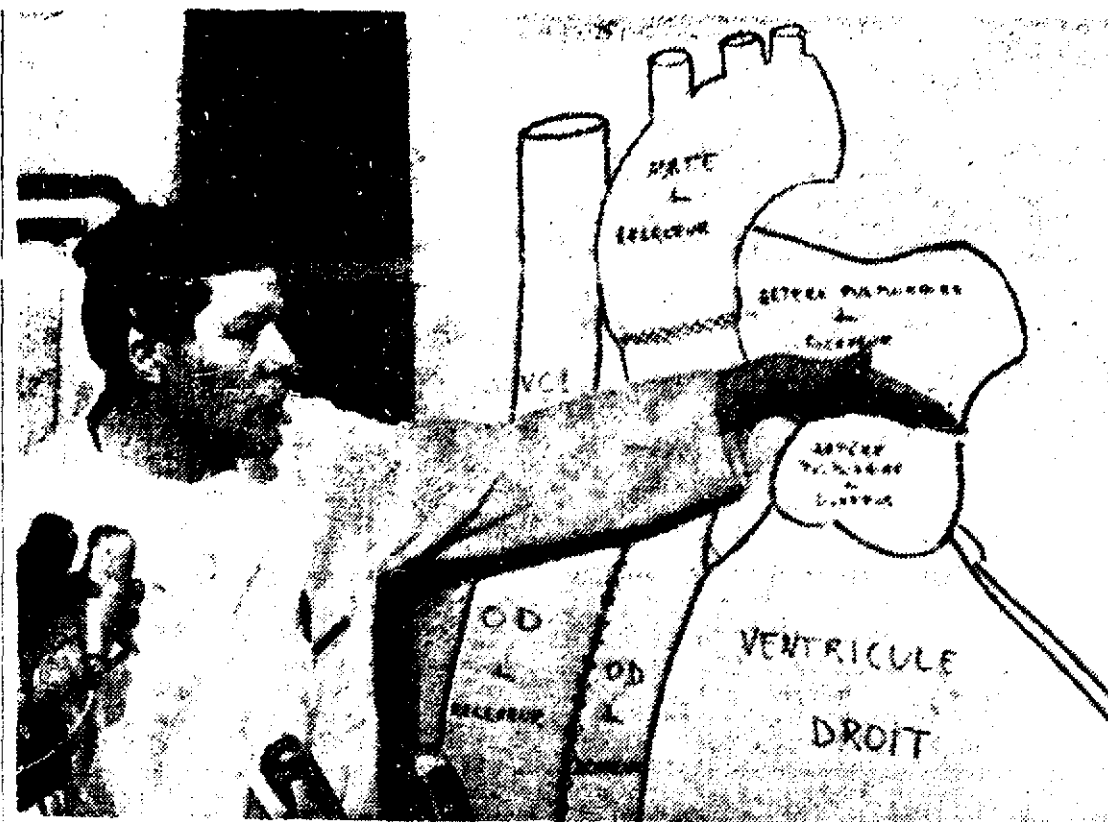

"My feeling as a man is one of chagrin," Mercadier said. "My feeling as a surgeon is that one must overcome this chagrin and work hard to renew what we have done."

"Giving Him Hope"

Mercadier said the reaction of Roblain's family "was very simple. They considered him as lost. They considered that we were giving him a little hope. They accepted this very well."

Asked if the operation was difficult, Mercadier said "it was not an easy operation, but neither was it a particularly difficult operation. The heart is a muscle which lends itself better than other organs to surgery."

He had high praise for Dr. Norman Shumway of Stanford University in California. He said Shumway was the originator, on an experimental basis, of heart transplants. "We owe him everything," he said. He also referred to Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard of South Africa, who had "magnificently succeeded" in heart transplants.

France's First Attempt at a heart transplant is explained today by Dr. Christian Cabrol with the aid of sketches. Dr. Cabrol and Dr. Gerard Guiraudon led the team that worked for nine hours Saturday to plant the heart into the chest of Clovis Roblain. The 66-year-old patient died today. (AP Wirephoto)

600 Cadets Ailing

Virus Closes Air Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Classes at the Air Force Academy and adjacent public schools were closed today because of a swift-striking illness that has hospitalized 99 cadets since Sunday.

More than 600 cadets, most complaining of sore throats, began reporting to academy physicians Sunday morning. Classes were suspended Monday and were to resume today until another wave of illness struck Monday night.

In a five-hour period 22 new cases required hospitalization. Some of the cadets were suffering from diarrhea, vomiting and fever.

"The organisms causing the epidemic among cadets tentatively have been identified as a strain of streptococcus," Col. Harry Green, academy hospital director, said. A team of experts from the U.S. Public Health Service National Communicable Disease Center at Fort Collins, Colo., was called in to help identify the ailment.

The cadets were treated with antibiotics and ordered to rest in bed. Some received intravenous injections to restore their fluid balance.

Emergency cots were arranged in the academy gymnasium after hospital facilities were overtaxed.

The disease appeared to have centered among the 3,000-man cadet wing. There were no reports of an unusual level of illness among the regular Air Force personnel or civilian workers at the academy.

Classes also were suspended for the 3,650 school children and 188 teachers in El Paso County District 20, which includes public schools on the 17,000-acre academy reservation and adjoining communities. This was mainly a precautionary measure, officials said.

Sinkhole Stops Short of House

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Florida's annual sinkhole season was well under way Monday when the two banana trees began dropping away from Drew Brunson's window.

Then the grapefruit tree fell into the hole.

Drew, the son of Dr. Evelyn Brunson, a professor at Polk County Junior College, was home Monday when the gaping sinkhole opened up in his yard.

The hole was 25 feet wide, then spread to 60 feet wide and 60 feet deep, gobbling up a part of the driveway before it stopped spreading just three feet from the foundation of the Brunson home.

Each year, sinkholes occur in this area of Florida as subterranean lime deposits drained of water during the spring dry season crumble.

Nudists Don Shoes To Help Fight Fire

CORONA, Calif. (AP) — A fire in Temescal Canyon spread so close to a nudist camp that many of the 200 sun bathers fled its path.

Several male nudists took up stations beside the fire-fighting crews numbering 300 or more.

"Some of those guys were helping fight the fire in their shoes, and nothing else," a spokesman for the state Division of Forestry said.

Humphrey Trying to Assure No Defeat in California Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, two late a Democratic presidential contender to get on California's June 4 primary ballot, is moving to insure no proxy slate carries his name to possible defeat.

Humphrey is discouraging any move by an uncommitted delegate—first organized by back President Johnson — to pledge itself to the vice presidential runoff Friday visit to Akron, Ohio.

State Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch has said in Los Angeles that the onetime pro-Johnson slate will meet soon to caucus on its presidential preference.

While more than three-fourths of the individuals on the Lynch slate are reported to favor Humphrey, the vice president and his strategists are struggling to avoid any public endorsement of him.

No Equal Chance

Their reasoning is that the chance of winning the state's 174 delegates, with the names of Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D., N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D., Minn., on the ballot and Humphrey's absent.

Because his formal entry into the race last Saturday was delayed until it was too late to get his name on any ballot, Humphrey plans whenever possible to avoid appearances in primary states until after the voting is over.

While he is conceding the presidential primary states on the first ballot to his rivals, Humphrey is already moving in on states that choose delegates in conventions and in district elections.

Humphrey was to view his chances of picking off some of New York's 190 votes at a luncheon today with supporters and contributors in New York City.

He has delegate candidates running in most of the state's congressional districts but expects Kennedy supporters to control the delegation.

The vice president will talk with Philadelphia area delegates on a visit there Thursday. His backers voiced confidence he can get a majority of Pennsylvania's 130 convention votes.

In New Jersey, the prospects are not as cheery for Humphrey. Gov. Richard J. Hughes' withdrawal of his name as a favorite son in the June 4 primary was being read in Washington as responsive to pressure for

But, Humphrey's lieutenants say they are confident Ohio's Democratic organization, which has been lined up for Johnson, will swing to him quickly.

The seeds the vice president's workers began sowing in Maryland shortly after the President's exit from the contest sprouted in a pro-Humphrey delegation Monday, bound by the unit rule in casting its 49 votes at the Chicago party convention.

This was regarded as a victory over Kennedy forces, who lost 114 to 23 an effort to knock out the unit rule.

(which topped at 10:50) and items from inside the barn and milk-house.

Seymour police and deputies guarded the scene during the night. The entire area around the farm buildings was roped off immediately after authorities arrived.

Investigators, along with Outagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps, returned to the scene this morning in an attempt to uncover more evidence.

Dr. Pearce Meighan, Appleton pathologist called to the scene by Kemps Monday, conducted an autopsy early today at the hospital. Kemps said Burnham died of stab wounds, but he did not elaborate.

Peters, route 3, Seymour, said today the farm on which the body was found has been occupied about five years, since he bought the property. Several families had lived in the tiny 1½-story house in past years, Peters said.

Brown County and Green Bay police and Coroner Tim Blaney were advised to join in the investigation after it was believed the body was that of the missing Green Bay man, and there was a possibility an offense could have been committed in Brown County.

Burnham, who was single, was born in Milwaukee. He was a barber in the Northland Hotel Barber Shop. He lived with his mother, Mrs. Loraine Burnham.

to Appleton by Brown County police after Outagamie authorities viewed pictures sent them by Green Bay police who had received a missing persons report on Burnham April 25. He had been missing from home since April 22. Burnham's 1962 auto was found against a pole near an eastside high school last Friday.

Taken From Scene

Authorities believe the car was taken from the death scene April 22 and driven to the parking lot at Bell Memorial Hospital, where it remained until late Friday evening.

Investigators believe the stabbing occurred on the abandoned farm.

They said the youths were taken into custody at their homes early today "on the basis of information received by Green Bay police." Investigators said they were not at liberty to reveal the nature of the information. Green Bay and Brown County authorities accompanied Outagamie investigators in the apprehension. Youths, who were sleeping, offered no resistance.

Two agents of the State Crime Laboratory arrived from Madison about 9 p.m. Monday with a mobile field unit. The agents were at the hospital until early today and went to the crime scene this morning. Among evidence they gathered were Burnham's clothing, his watch a telegram to a group of supporters in Vermont saying he would seek the nomination to "give our party a choice of candidates and programs."

Rocky Opens Bid for Nomination

But, at his news conference, he declined to discuss his differences with Nixon, the only other major candidate for the GOP nomination. He said he did not know enough about Nixon's views to comment.

Rockefeller set forth four reasons in his announcement of candidacy.

He said he had decided to run because of:

—"The dramatic and unprecedented events of the past weeks have revealed in most serious terms the gravity of the crises that face us as a people."

He did not elaborate on the point, but Rockefeller associates said he had been deeply disturbed by the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Rockefeller also believed that President Johnson's decision not to seek renomination had so changed the political picture that he was compelled to enter the race.

—He found, he said, that he could not offer alternatives effectively from the sidelines "in the new circumstances that confront the nation."

—Numerous people, within and outside the Republican Party, "have urged me to take this step—to foster as an active candidate the discussion and debate that sustains our democracy."

—He is "deeply disturbed by the course of events—growing unrest and anxiety at home, and the signs of disintegration abroad." He underscored the word "disintegration" in the text of his official announcement.

Rockefeller said he would do everything he could "with all my energy" in the weeks remaining before the GOP national convention "to bring before the people the dimensions of the problems as I see them and how I believe as a free people we can meet them."

He is to begin Wednesday by spelling out his views on the Vietnam war in a major address in Philadelphia.

While Rockefeller aides sought to preserve an illusion of suspense in today's activities, the stage was set carefully for a formal declaration of candidacy.

Privately they conceded there could be no other reason for encouraging national political reporters and the major television networks to come to the New York capital other than to hear another governor of New York declare his presidential candidacy.

Such recent predecessors as Democrat W. Averell Harriman, Republican Thomas E. Dewey and Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt traveled the same route, with varying degrees of success.

Lynn Kellogg 'Vibrant Damsel' Musical Hair Described As Frantic, Fascinating

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP) — The yippie movement of youthful anti-go-protest roared into Broadway's Baltimore theater Monday night with "Hair," a very frantic musical.

At its best the show bristles with droll vitality and eccentric charm. At its worst, it becomes an ear-splitting, tasteless pandemonium — a berserk "Hellzapoppin'" of hokum and post-juvenile nonsense.

Miss Lynn Kellogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kellogg, 1331 Lehmann Lane, has been a member of the "Hair" cast since its beginning.

A less elaborate version of the rockbeat gyrations and plaintive tunes that are the main substance was done earlier this season at off-Broadway's Public Theater, later moved with unfortunate results into the Cheetah night club.

More Songs
For this edition, a half dozen more songs have been inserted and a nother director, Tom O'Horgan — one of the chief gurus of off-off-Broadway experimentation — called in to intensify spit-in-the-eye insolence.

Main targets of the episodes, which have been hung loosely on an hallucinatory trifle of plot, are the war in Vietnam, air pollution, and of course the square world that doesn't regard dirty shirts, pot and sloth as groovy delights.

The whole thing is performed, resemble an old-fashioned revival meeting.

Miss Meta Neuman
Rt. 1, Larsen
Age 81, died at Theda Clark Hospital at 8:30 a.m. yesterday. She was born October 4, 1886 in the Town of Winchester. She was a cook for private families in Neenah and Oshkosh for many years. She retired 15 years ago and for the past 8 years resided with her niece, Mrs. William Thurf, Larsen. Survivors are one sister-in-law, Mrs. Ida Neuman and one sound that succeeds — perhaps fortunately — in making some of the words incomprehensible. Assorted mixed-media stunts are employed to an accompaniment of flashing lights, marches by performers through the audience to intensify involvement, and a series of Indian-like war dances.

Cycle Roar, Nude Effect
At one point a motorcycle roars down the center aisle. For finale of the first act, in counterpoint to a melancholy number "Where Do I Go," a half dozen of the male performers and several of the girls stand forth completely nude in the staging's dim light.

Or so it is designed to appear. A gentleman seated a few rows forward vowed the illusion was achieved with some costuming.

The performing principals include Jerome Ragni and James Rado, who prepared the book and lyrics: Lynn Kellogg and Sally Eaton, a fiercely vibrant pair of damsels; and Shelley Plimpton, earning a big hand with the quietest number in the show. The music was written by Gal MacDermot who conducts the triple fortissimo musicians who perch on a dilapidated auto hulk at stage left.

Full of uninhibited language and action, "Hair" can outrage many. As a manifestation of certain aspects of this high-strung era, it can fascinate. For some of the first-night audience, the whole thing seemed to resemble an old-fashioned revival meeting.

Richard Westenburg

Organ Recital Friday By Lawrence Graduate

Since 1954, Richard Wessenburg Has Won Many Laurels in Musical Field

Organist Richard Westenburg, a 1954 Lawrence Conservatory graduate, now serving as choir-master-organist at New York's Central Presbyterian Church, will play a public recital at 8 p.m. Friday in Lawrence University Memorial Chapel.

Westenburg, who has gained national prominence as a concert performer, will appear on the Lawrence Special Events music series under auspices of the University and the North-east Wisconsin chapter of the American Guild of Organists (AGO).

His program will be given without admission charge.

The Minneapolis-born musician received a bachelor of music degree at Lawrence, where he was an organ student of Conservatory Dean LaVahn Maesch. While at Lawrence, he served as organist at the First Presbyterian Church, Neenah.

He returned to the church in 1964 to give a recital sponsored by the AGO.

In 1956 he received a master of music degree from the University of Minnesota. He is now a candidate for a doctoral degree in sacred music at the Union Theological Seminary

School of Music, New York, where he also acts as a tutor in music history and analysis.

Taught in Montana

While attending the University of Minnesota, Westenburg was choir-master-organist of the First Congregational Church, Minneapolis. After receiving his master's degree, he was appointed instructor of organ and music literature, and carillonneur at Montana State University, positions he held until 1960.

In 1961 he journeyed to Europe where he studied under organists Pierre Cochereau and Jean Langlais, and composer-conductor Nadia Boulanger. He returned to this country later that year to become choir-master-organist at the First Unitarian Church, Worcester, Mass.

Westenburg's first professional concert tour was made in late 1961. A highlight of that season was his appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at the Worcester Music Festival. A year later he was featured recitalist at the National Cathedral, Washington, D.C.

Symphony Engagement

Since that time, he has played for regional AGO conventions in

No Enjoyment For Fans of Perry Mason

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channel 2 — Perry Mason fans may not enjoy The Trial Lawyer as much as their fictional courtroom hero since there is little in the way of histrionics. The closest resemblance shows Percy Foreman, one of the country's most celebrated murder trial attorneys in a rare film of a homicide case in Texas with the lawyer summing up the case before the jury. There is also Edward Bennett Williams (clients: Jimmy Hoffa, Adam Clayton Powell, Frank Costello), Melvin Belli (Jack Ruby), F. Lee Bailey (Dr. Carl Coppolino, Dr. Sam Shepherd) and Louis Nizer who reminisces on his famous libel suits. Excepting for Bailey who is seen making a speech and talking about the "Perry Mason syndrome," the lawyers are seen discussing their professional lives, their philosophies and techniques with CBS newsman Harry Reasoner. (C)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-9 — The assignment for Garrison's Gorillas is comparatively simple, hardly more than escort duty as they're told to take a scientist into France to sneak a peek at a new aircraft engine. That part is simple but when a German bullet cuts down the scientist, Garrison decides the only way to get the information back is to take the whole engine along, all 600 pounds of it. (R-C)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7 — Judy the chimp continues to prove herself as human as her cast counterparts (not the animals) on Daktari and often a better actress. In this, she becomes the queen of a tribe of chimp worshippers and in her regal bearing is able to both lord it over Dr. Tracy and his staff (with whom she has become annoyed) and save their lives. (R-C)

7-8 — Channel 5 — Barbara Feldon shows up on The Jerry Lewis Show displaying both singing and comedic abilities, mostly the latter. She'll break you up, as she does Jerry, playing a romance-hungry lady

Hartford, Conn.; Springfield, Mass.; San Jose, Calif.; and Albany, N.Y. In July he will play at the national guild convention in Denver, Colo. His current tour includes a concert with the Kansas City Symphony.

Westenburg's playing was described in a review of his San Jose recital by "The Diapason," official periodical of the AGO. It said: "Mr. Westenburg's basically French program sparkled with vigor and exuberance and captivated the audience. At the conclusion of his final number, the audience rose to its feet in a standing ovation."

who orders dinner from Chicken Yum Yum and tries to roast the bumbling delivery boy. (R-C)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 11-9 — Hermione Gingold is more the actress than the buffoon. It Takes a Thief. She plays the Countess Christina who has led an easy life and lets it be known that she intends printing her memoirs. The news causes quite a stir in official circles among men who know they and the country are sure to be embarrassed. (C)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 2-7 — Comedian Nipsey Russell, one of the funniest men in the world, guest on The Red Skelton Hour, appearing as a combination insurance agent, medical examiner and undertaker in a George Appleby skit. Also featured are the singing group The Association with "Birthday Morning" and with the whole company, "Wasn't It A Bit Like Now?" (R-C)

8-10 — Channel 5 — The charm and talent of two of the acting members of the Mills family, father John and daughter Hayley — make "The Truth About Spring" worthwhile viewing on Tuesday Night at the Movies. They play father and daughter in a Caribbean setting

Sitar, Drum, Drone Concert May 6 at St. Norbert College

Three leading musicians from India will be heard on the sitar, the tabla (drums) and the tampura (string drone) in a free concert at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Hall of Fine Arts Auditorium at St. Norbert College.

Open to the public, the concert is jointly sponsored by St. Norbert College and by the Fox Valley India Association, a group of 35 students from India now on campuses in the Fox Valley.

Sitarist Ustad Ghulamhusain Khan is the featured performer in the group. His instrument, the sitar, is widely known in India but only recently known in the United States.

where he fishes and she loafs away time aboard their boat. He decides she needs more activity and goes ashore to bring a young man aboard hoping to kindle a romance. James MacArthur plays the chap in the 1965 release. (R-C)

Quintet to Play James Mattern Work at DePere

"Quintet for Brass" by trombonist James Mattern will be the major work of the evening when the Chicago Brass Quintet plays the final concert in the St. Norbert College Fine Arts Series at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the Hall of Fine Arts Auditorium.

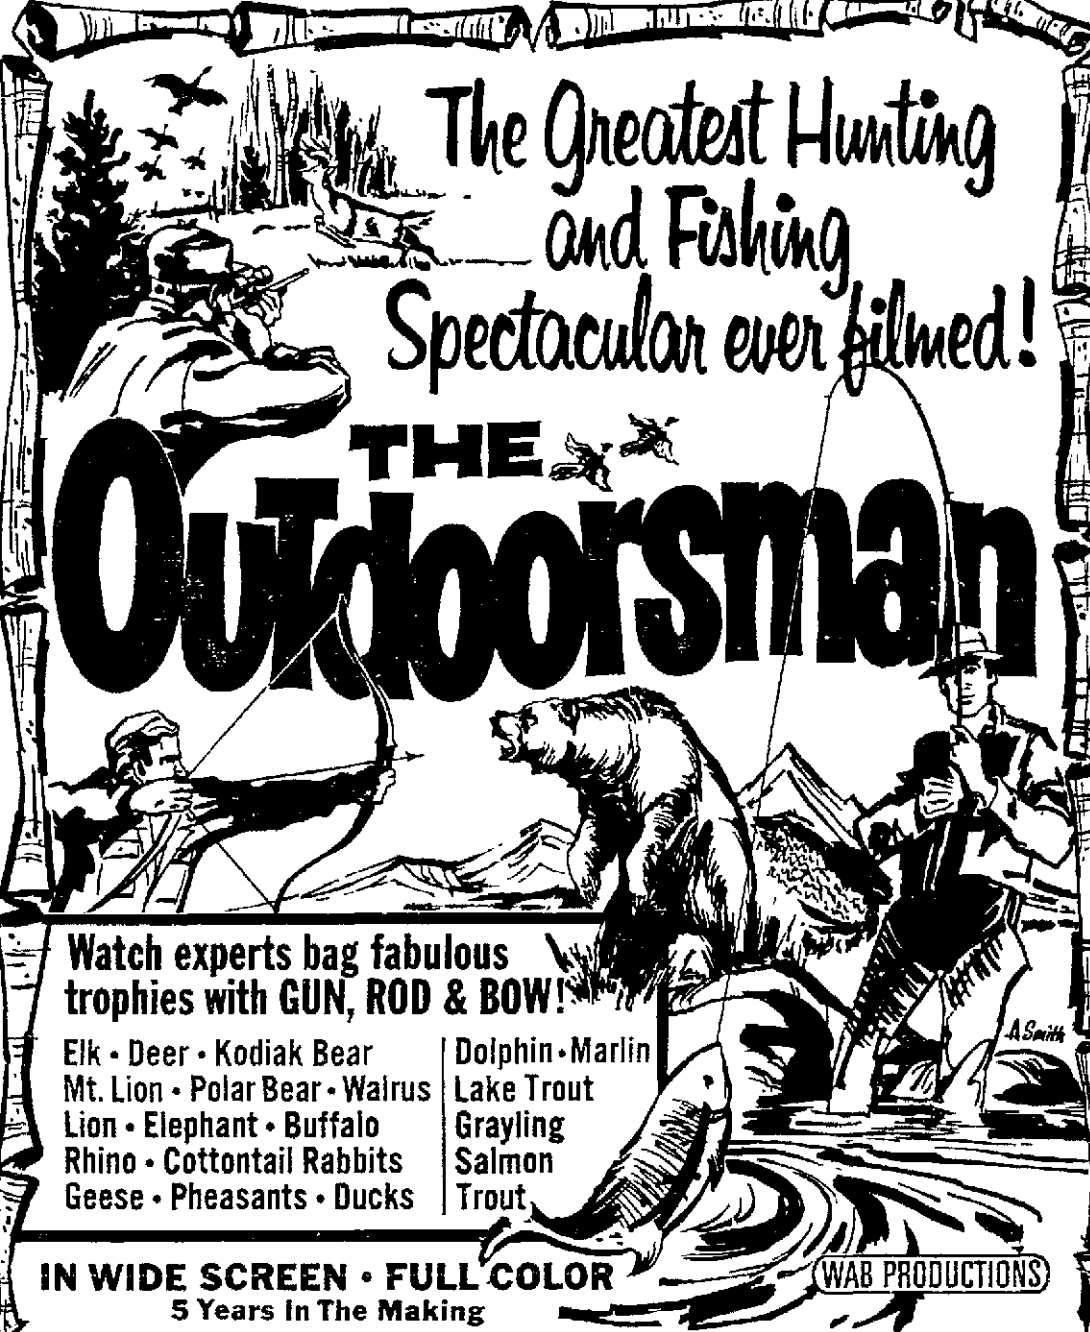

Mattern, director of the quintet, is a Menasha native and has degrees from Lawrence and Northwestern Universities. His brother, Gerald, is band director at St. Norbert College and an assistant professor in the Music Department.

The Chicago Brass Quintet was organized in 1962 while its members were completing their degrees at Northwestern University. In addition to touring to various colleges and universities in the Midwest, quintet members belong to major United States orchestras as well.

Members include trumpeters Charles Geyer and Brian Perry, tuba player Robert Bauchsens, hornist and pianist Paul Terveit, and trombonist, Mattern.

Your Money's Worth
Solid Insurance Plan
Vital to 'Breadwinner'

BY SYLVIA PORTER
Does your family's health insurance policy provide the family breadwinner with any kind of income if he should become disabled?
Does your policy require a specific writing period before benefits will be paid for, say, tonsillectomy or maternity costs? If so how long is the waiting period?

Porter

In the event of a catastrophic illness, what proportion of the actual hospital room and other charges in your area would your health insurance cover?
Millions of you, I suspect, do not know the answers to these vitally important questions. By not knowing, you may be risking financial disaster. The very fact that today, private health insurance pays only one-third of our medical bills shows how seriously underinsured you may be, without knowing it.
Here, therefore, are guidelines for bringing your family's health insurance coverage up to date:

How Much Coverage

1) Begin by deciding just how much coverage your family actually needs. If your financial resources are not large enough to cover the costs of a medical catastrophe, you definitely should consider major medical insurance providing maximum benefits of $10,000, $20,000 or even $50,000. If you do not really need insurance to protect you against a short-term hospital stay, you should consider a health insurance policy with a higher deductible than you may now have.

2) Go over any group health insurance policies you may have, and find out exactly what is and is not covered. You are likely to find that the maximum amount payable for any given accident or illness is $5,000 or less. You also may find that the daily allowances for hospital rooms are below the actual costs in your area.

3) Plan to have outside individual or family policies fill the gaps and add to the coverage provided by your employers. Social Security disability benefits, medical payments provided under your homeowner's liability insurance or Medicare.

4) Consider all the possible types of health insurance benefits available today. These include laboratory work, X-rays, operating room costs, dental bills, drug bills, psychiatric care, nursing home care, etc. Decide which type you can — and cannot — afford to pay for yourself. (One little-known benefit now available in some policies is "income insurance" for the breadwinner's wife, to cover the cost of household help if she should become ill or disabled).

5) Get answers to the following key questions about your present insurance policies and additional insurance coverage you are considering buying:

Guaranteed Renewable

Is your policy "guaranteed renewable," meaning your premium rate cannot be raised unless it is raised for all policyholders, and up to what age?

How many days of hospital care does your policy cover and how much is paid for each day in the hospital? Is this amount in line with actual charges being made at local hospitals?

Are the surgical fees payable by your insurance in line with the fees being charged by local surgeons?

How much are the deductibles you will be expected to pay for doctors' and hospital bills?

How seriously disabled must you be in order to collect disability insurance benefits?

One final note: no matter how complete you believe your health insurance to be, chances are it still will not cover all of your medical costs either for a short or long illness. Your own emergency savings still will be vital protection.

Byrnes Schedules Office Hours in Appleton Friday

Eighth Dist. Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, will maintain office hours from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday at the Outagamie County Courthouse, Appleton.

He urged constituents who wish to discuss federal matters to see him at this time.

No reservations are necessary. Byrnes will meet with callers in the order of their arrival. The congressman has been holding office hours throughout the district whenever the legislative schedule in Washington permits him to return to Wisconsin for a week-end.

Byrnes will dedicate a new one-block parking mall in West De Pere and will give a short address during the ceremonies at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Canned Goods Stolen In Cottage Burglary

John Stutzman, Hortonville, reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department Monday that a large quantity of canned goods was taken in a burglary at his Wolf River cottage over the weekend.

The cottage is located near the Stephenville boat landing.

Tessen Quits Power Firm

Dinner Tonight for 41-Year Veteran at Wisconsin Michigan

Fred Tessen, line superintendent, Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., (WMPCO), retired today after 41 years of service. He is being honored by fellow employees at a dinner tonight at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

Tessen

25, 1927, as a lineman he was promoted to line foreman in 1936, line supervisor in 1944 and superintendent of right-of-way in 1947.

Tessen has been a member of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, the Outagamie Conservation Club and the Wisconsin Utilities Association.

Successor Named

Tessen will be succeeded by Lawrence A. Mauthe, 41 N First St., Hilbert. Mauthe started as a line department groundman in 1946 and advanced to lineman a few months later. He was named leading lineman in 1957, Hilbert districtman in 1958 and line supervisor in 1965.

Mauthe has been active in the Hilbert Advancement Association and served as secretary-treasurer from 1958 to 1961.

Succeeding Mauthe as line supervisor is Gordon Drexler, 614 E. Calumet St., Appleton. Drexler began as a groundman in 1946, was promoted to lineman in 1947 and to leading lifeman in 1957.

Kaukauna Boy Is Named to USAF Academy

Byrnes Appoints Daniel Siebers, 2 Others in District

A Kaukauna youth today was one of three high school students in the 8th Congressional District awarded appointments to United States service academies.

Rep. John Byrnes announced the appointments of Daniel R. Siebers, Kaukauna, and Berthold T. Bangert Jr., Green Bay, both to the U.S. Air Force Academy, and William Marini, Kewaunee, to the U.S. Naval Academy as his three 1968 appointments.

The youths will enter their respective academies this summer and, upon completion of four years of study, will receive commissions as second lieutenants. Siebers and Bangert are sons of Siebers and Bangert are headed for Colorado, and Marini will attend school at Annapolis.

Active in Athletics

Siebers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Siebers, 306 Blackwell St., Kaukauna, is a member of the 1968 graduating class at Kaukauna High School where he participates in athletics including cross country, track and wrestling. His other extra-curricular activities include the Latin Club and working on the Kau Hi News.

Bangert is a senior at Bay Port High School where he has been active in football, basketball and baseball. He also has been a member of the student council and the National Honor Society.

Marini will be a 1968 graduate of Kewaunee High School where he is a member of the high school band and participates in sports.

The youths had to qualify and rank highest in a series of tests conducted by the Civil Service Commission and the Academy in order to win the competition for Byrnes' appointment. Similar competitions are conducted each year for Byrnes' service academy appointments.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 30, the 121st day of 1968. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, George Washington was inaugurated as the first American president. He was sworn in on the balcony of Federal Hall in New York.

On this date:

In 1798, the U. S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

In 1803, the Louisiana Purchase was made from France. The United States more than doubled its size.

In 1812, Louisiana was admitted into the Union as the 18th state.

In 1900, railroad engineer Casey Jones was killed in a train wreck at Vaughan, Miss.

In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt opened the New York World's Fair.

In 1945, during World War II, the Soviet flag was raised over the ruins of the Reichstag in Berlin.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower said new figures on employment showed a decline in the economy was flattening out.

Five years ago — In 1963, New Hampshire became the first state since 1894 to authorize a state-run lottery.

Police Investigating Little Chute Vandalism

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating weekend vandalism to a pick-up truck and building at Fox Valley Construction Co. Rose Hill Road.

League of Municipalities Conference at Stevens Point

Members of city councils and village boards from throughout the Fox Valley and Northeastern Wisconsin will meet at Stevens Point May 28, it was announced today.

It will be one of seven regional sessions called by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, beginning May 15 in various parts of the state.

Ed Johnson, Madison, the League's executive director, informed Mayor George Buckley and other officials in the region today that members of the Governor's Committee on Local Government Finance and Organization (Tarr Task Force) will be in attendance.

Red Cross to Continue Swim Instructions for Harrison Youngsters

SHERWOOD — Red Cross swimming instructions for Town of Harrison youngsters will be sponsored again this summer by the Calumet County organization according to Mrs. William Stauss, Chilton, chapter chairman.

During the past two summers instructions were given at the Kaukauna pool. Details of the program are not complete, however, Mrs. Stauss indicated an announcement will be made soon.

About 80 youngsters participated last year. Mrs. Paul Krueger, who handled reservations in the town, is beginning to receive inquiries regarding this year's program.

Railroads Told To Fireproof Rights-of-Way

Train-Caused Fires Swelled to High Level During 1967

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Reporting another high mark in the total of railroad-caused forest fires in 1967, the State Forest Protection Division today called for an all-out effort by the railroad companies for the fireproofing of their rights-of-way by the removal of brush and other combustible growth.

Neil LeMay, chief of the Forest Protection Service, said such work by the railroads is now required by state law, but that the ratio of diesel-engine originated fires continues dangerously high, nevertheless. Last year such fires amounted to about 40 per cent of the total of 2,156 fires reported within forest protection districts, he said.

The protection chief acknowledged that railroads have expended much money and effort to reduce the fire-setting characteristics of the diesel locomotive, but he said the railroad fire problem is "alarming" because of the growing value of the state's timberland and the developments within state forests which make the risk of loss higher each year.

Charge to Companies

(LeMay's agency a year ago asked the legislature for authority to clear railroad rights-of-way for improved fire safety, and to charge the costs to the companies involved, but the lawmakers failed to act on the bill. Railroad spokesmen said their researches directed toward reducing diesel engine sparks are continuing and that there is promise of remedy.)

Meanwhile, the loss of 5,191 acres of protected timber to fires last year was comparatively low, as was the total damage of under $70,000.

The figure will be higher this year, because unseasonably dry conditions in upper Wisconsin brought an abnormal number of blazes.

Nearly 95 per cent of the fires last year burned over less than 10 acres. The cost of protecting more than 17 million acres of timberland under intensive protection continued the rise of recent years, to a new average cost per acre of 14.4 cents, and a total for the year of nearly $2.5 million.

Under the law, the City of Appleton cannot pay attorney's fees for the driver of the fire department's rescue squad who was arrested as result of a traffic accident Oct. 18 at 11 p.m.

The legal opinion was issued Monday by City Atty. David G. Geenen at the request of the

Appleton Man Named Assistant Commander Of Lutheran Pioneers

Merlin Kobussen, Appleton, was appointed assistant commander of the Paperland District Lutheran Pioneers at a leaders' training course in Burlington last week. The appointment was made during a special meeting of the National Council.

Others from Appleton attending were Carl Meitner, district commander; LaVern Diestler, Richard Messer, Elmer Boldt, Kenneth Hinz, Carl Krenkel, Leon Sawall, Harland Thern, Ken Worland and James Mead. The Rev. Frederic G. Kosanke, Kimberly, and Stuart Storm, Algoma, also attended.

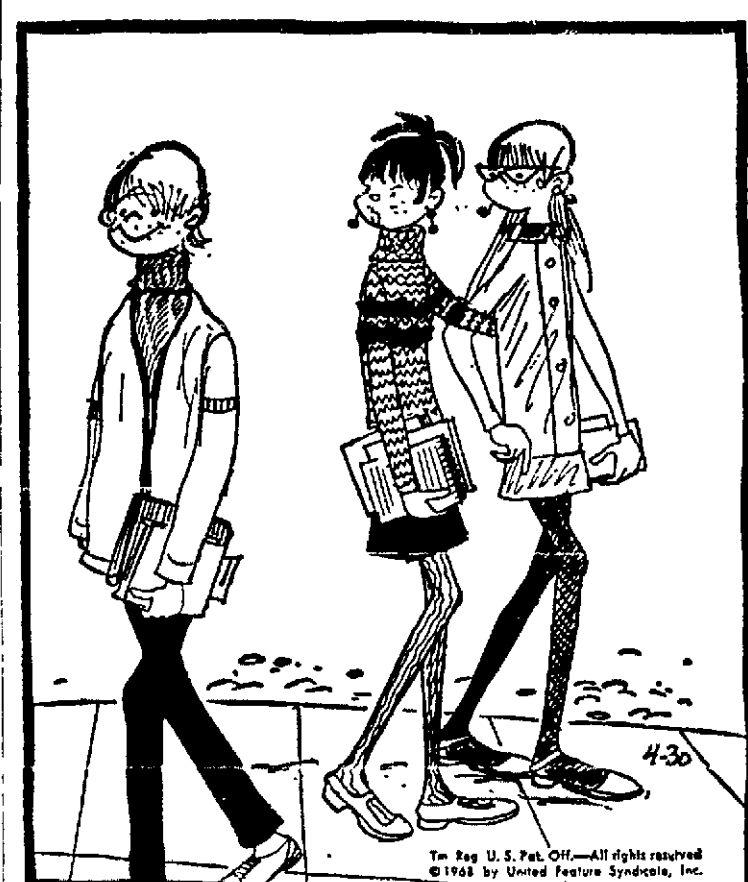

Dr. Curtis Tarr, president of Lawrence University, heads the task force.

"Every city and village official should be extremely interested in a report on the work of this task force," Johnson wrote, "since its recommendations will have a great impact on the future of local government in Wisconsin."

Mayor Buckley and other officials from the Fox Cities — members of the Alliance of Cities — will be at Madison Thursday to testify before the Tarr group as it wraps up its year-long hearings.

Negro Concentration Builds Political Power

By JOHN BECKLER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The concentration of Negroes in large Northern cities is beginning to produce its own kind of Black Power—black political power.

This year Negroes won control of city governments in Cleveland, Ohio, and Gary, Ind. In November they're expected to gain at least three more seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

That would increase the number of Negro congressmen to nine, the highest yet; higher even than the seven who served at the peak of Negro participation in Reconstruction-era government.

Communities Divided

For years congressional district lines in most big cities were drawn to divide the black community among several predominantly white districts. But the steady flocking of Negroes to urban areas has made such draftsmanship increasingly difficult.

The three new districts expected to elect Negroes this fall year, because unseasonably dry conditions in upper Wisconsin brought an abnormal number of blazes.

Nearly 95 per cent of the fires last year burned over less than 10 acres. The cost of protecting more than 17 million acres of timberland under intensive protection continued the rise of recent years, to a new average cost per acre of 14.4 cents, and a total for the year of nearly $2.5 million.

The driver was arrested by city police and charged with a minor traffic violation after a collision with a car at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Prospect Avenue.

The charge eventually was dismissed in court.

Attorney's Fees

However, the rescue squad driver incurred attorney's fees of $150 which, it was reported, the Firemen's Union had agreed in advance to pay if the city did not.

Geenen pointed out the action put the city in a peculiar position of being both defendant and plaintiff in the action.

He said while Section 270.58 of the Wisconsin Statutes does provide for the municipality to pay the judgment and costs entered against an employee or officer, the local incident did not meet statutory requirements.

Civil Action

Geenen said a traffic charge of the type brought against the fireman is the type of a civil action in which the city is a plaintiff and therefore within the exceptions of the statute.

"Application would result in the city being both plaintiff and being liable to itself for the judgment," Geenen added to press his point.

He said after a thorough examination of the statutes and case histories, he concluded the city may not pay for legal counsel in this instance.

Geenen also said the city could not pay attorney's fees relating to the defense of ordinance violation cases brought by the city against a public officer or employee because of acts committed while carrying out his duties.

Joe Pyne IS COMING on WLUK-TV

are in New York City, Cleveland and St. Louis.

Rather than run in the new districts two of the white incumbents have moved over to tackle incumbents in adjoining districts and the third one has announced his retirement.

Although having 9 members in a 435-member House would leave Negroes far short of their proportionate weight of about 11 per cent of the total population, their strength in Congress has increased steadily, if slowly, since World War II.

Only Chicago

Until 1945 only Chicago had elected a Negro congressman in the 20th century, its southside Negro community having had its own representatives since 1930.

In 1945 Adam Clayton Powell of New York made his flamboyant entrance on the national scene; in 1954 Detroit elected its first Negro member; in 1958, Philadelphia; in 1962, Los Angeles—and in 1964 Detroit became the first city with two Negro representatives.

In 1966 the first Negro senator since Reconstruction was elected, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts.

Some Negro leaders expect to pick up more than three seats in November, with Los Angeles and Chicago offering the best prospects. If it doesn't happen this year, it seems certain the number will grow after the 1970 census requires another round of redistricting.

The population increase among Negroes since 1950 has been almost all in central cities of metropolitan areas. Negroes are 26 per cent of the population in cities or metropolitan areas with more than 1 million population. And the larger the city the faster the Negro population is growing.

Newark, Baltimore

The 1970 census will probably show Negroes making up more than half the population of Newark, N.J., and just under half of Baltimore's, making the election of Negro congressmen from those cities likely.

The present group of Negroes in Congress indicates Negro voters have not been won by such militants as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Only Powell, who has been denied his seat in the present Congress, has made an issue of race. The others go about their business with only their color distinguishing them from the other representatives of the people of the United States.

State's Boat Slip at Oshkosh to be Repaired

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Repairs on the boat slip at the Oshkosh headquarters of the State Conservation Department on Lake Winnebago, delayed for nine years because of budgeting difficulties, will finally be made, conservation division officials have announced. The conservation commission has approved the project and a construction contract soon will be awarded. An engineering estimate put the probable cost at $10,560.

Sen. Percy Won't be Nixon's Vice President

Differs With Him on Vietnam; Might Go With Rockefeller if Latter Declares

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — During a recent staff meeting in his Capitol Hill office, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois issued a blunt order to his youthful aides: if any of you are interested in pushing me for vice president, you can leave right now.

This was not merely fulfilling the political ritual that nobody runs for vice president. Rather, it reflected both a deeply important decision reached by Percy and the frustration felt by him and other moderates in the Republican party.

Although he has said nothing publicly, Percy is profoundly distressed by the position on Vietnam taken by Richard M. Nixon and seriously questions whether he could serve as Nixon's running-mate. Moreover, he has made his personal decision to back Gov. Nelson Rockefeller against Nixon.

Indeed, Percy is ready to take the adverse political consequences back home in Illinois and publicly endorse Rockefeller — if Rockefeller will make an open and spirited bid for the nomination. But neither Percy nor anybody else is positive that the governor will stir himself.

Study of Frustration

Thus, the position of Percy and other Republican moderates today is a study in frustration. Despite deep misgivings over Nixon, the only practical alternative — Rockefeller — so far has shown them no leadership.

The dilemma has a particular touch of poignancy in Percy's case. Over the past five years, his personal relationships have been far warmer with Nixon than with Rockefeller (who has never forgiven Percy's failure to support him for President in 1964). Political conversations between Percy and Rockefeller were resumed only in recent weeks and at Percy's, not Rockefeller's initiation.

Furthermore, Percy could sweeten his sour relations with the dominant Bourbon wing of the Illinois Republican party by backing Nixon for president. The Chicago Tribune, organ of Illinois Bourbonism, has hinted broadly it would happily forget

New State Code on Freezer Meat, Food Service Is Released

MADISON (AP) — Law enforcement agencies in Wisconsin have been provided with copies of the state's new code for the freezer meat and food service plan business.

The bulletin furnishes details on consumer protection regulations established by the State Department of Agriculture.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette, who sent out copies of the code, said that the freezer meat and food service plan is a major source of complaints to the consumer fraud division in his office.

The code prohibits sales of one product for the purpose of selling another, calls for disclosure of complete prices, prevents transfer of a buyer's promissory note, sets up procedure for refunds when a buyer cancels a contract within a prescribed time and bars false or misleading claims.

Fees for Examining Plans Are Raised

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — An upward revision of the fees charged for building plan examinations and inspections has taken effect, the State Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations has announced. The new schedule of fees starts with a 30 cent per 1,000 cubic feet charge for general building plans reviewing.

Purchase of Land Near High Cliff Approved

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Purchase of five lots and a smaller parcel from John G. and Harriet Hammen of Menasha at a price of $50,000 for the enlargement of High Cliff State Park in Calumet County has been approved by the State Conservation Commission at the request of the Parks and Recreation Division.

Evans

its old quarrels with Percy and back him for vice president if only he would support Nixon.

Such an accommodation is devoutly desired by Percy's cautious political advisors, who earlier this year dissuaded him from entering against Nixon in the Oregon primary.

But Percy, often criticized for not swimming upstream against Nixon, the political current, is prepared to do just that this time. He is prepared to give Rockefeller a badly needed plug at the cost of enraging pro-Nixon Bourbons in Illinois and capsizing his now floundering favorite son status.

The reason why reflects Nixon's failure to say the things necessary to win over the moderates after Rockefeller's March 21 statement of non-candidacy appeared to leave Nixon alone in the field. Like many moderates, Percy is concerned over Nixon's positioning himself to the right of President Johnson on Vietnam, as emphasized by Nixon's recent statement opposing any coalition government in Saigon.

Nor is it practical to talk about unveiling a new moderate Republican hopeful at this late hour. In recent conversations with each other, Percy and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City agreed it is much too late for either to make a try and that Rockefeller is the only viable alternative to Nixon.

Doubt He Has Desire

In that light, Rockefeller's listlessness of the past month is hardly disquieting to the moderates. His lackluster performance before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington two weeks ago was another reason for prominent moderates to ask whether he has his heart in a final run for the White House.

These same moderates wonder why Rockefeller is tagging along on the cross-country tour of Republican governors conducting platform hearings, when he would be vastly more effective on a speaking swing of his own.

One bright spot for the moderate is that George Hinman, easily the best politician in Rockefeller's inner circle, now favors an all-out campaign drive after months of skepticism. In fact, Hinman is privately working with leaders of the draft-Rockefeller movement. But that is not the same as Rockefeller himself emerging as a fighting candidate. Until he does, the frustration of the Percys, the Lindsays, and other moderates will deepen.

Sew a Sweater in an Hour

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Women who enjoy sewing usually are on the alert for new and better ways to accomplish professional looking results in their homesewing projects. And there is a new idea and method for sewing on knit fabrics being taught in Appleton. Mrs. Joseph Burke, teacher at a new knit center, not only demonstrates how to cut and sew sweaters but also shows how methods for sewing a sweater can be used to sew any of the wool or synthetic knits available by the yard into fashionable dresses, skirts, slack outfits and swim suits.

The idea of being able to successfully sew these fabrics at home is an appealing one. Knits are comfortable to wear and require much less tailoring than regular fabrics. For the women who want to learn the process, classes are being offered so that they, too, can learn to work successfully with the fabrics.

Once the fabric and pattern have been chosen, the pattern is laid on the knitted fabric just as it is on regular fabric. Instead of using straight pins, however, it is easier to use the special cutting board into which pegs can be pushed. Cutting the fabric is just like cutting any other fabric. The neckband, at right, can be made from either the ribbed fabric or from a piece of the body fabric. It is simply stitched into a circle and then attached to the neckline.

Oops, the sleeves are a little big. It's a simple matter to pin it again and re-sew. At left, the sleeves are set into the armhole as soon as the shoulders are sewed and then the entire side seam is stitched at one time. (Post-Crescent Photos)

And Here It Is Ready to Wear. A matching or contrasting skirt and the sweater topped with a scarf or a strand of pearls and you are ready for a shopping trip or a day at the office.

Do-It-Yourself Shades Resemble New Ball Lights

VY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Newspaper scraps, a balloon and starch may put a new kind of light in your life. The lamp that evolves from your do-it-yourself efforts can be made to resemble the new ball lights or cut to look like a hanging Tiffany shade, 1968 model.

If you want a hanging lamp, you'll need a hanging light cord. The ball-on-pedestal type lamps require a small fixture that may be hidden by a base. An old short-base lamp may be good for this.

Papier-Mache
Papier-mache paste is made by mixing a cup of cold water and a cup of instant laundry starch.

Here's how you go about it: Round shade—Blow up a balloon. Tie it. Set it in a box or tape it in place so that it won't slide as you work on it. Tear newspaper into small pieces and coat the bits with the starch paste, covering the entire balloon with paper scraps, overlapping pieces for strength. Two or three layers are needed for a strong shade. Added strength may be provided by making the first layer out of scraps of rice paper that you can find in craft and hobby shops.

Let the shade dry overnight. When it seems to be thoroughly dry, pierce the balloon or simply open it. Gradually, let the air escape and pull the balloon carefully away from the shade.

If there isn't enough room to slip a light fixture through the opening left by the balloon, make it larger. Be sure a bulb has plenty of room so that it is not touching the sides of your shade.

Round shade base: Take an old low lamp base and enclose it, making a box-shaped pedestal of wood. Your light ball can then be pasted directly over the bulb and fastened to the pedestal.

Making Tiffany Shade
Tiffany shade—Blow up balloon as above, putting a chalk line around the length you desire. Layer rice paper and colored tissue above it, using various colored tissue scraps to make flower petals or other patterns. To hang this shade, make a small hole on top and hang a light cord through it. Tape cord to top of the shade when it has been adjusted to the right length. Ask someone to attach the light fixture.

String ball—This can be a very pretty hanging light with its see-through effects. Soak cord in starch solution and wrap it around and around a balloon, criss-crossing it to form a pretty pattern. Leave one end uncovered so that a light fixture can be slipped through after balloon is removed.

All sorts of effects may be achieved with this basic idea. You can go pop, psychedelic, traditional. Put your imagination to work and you may be surprised at your own ingenuity.

LaCrosse Woman Named to Position

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Alp Gundersen of La Crosse, Wis., has been named chairman of the 50th Anniversary Committee of the League of Women Voters, which opened its national convention Monday.

The committee is to develop plans to commemorate the league's founding in 1920.

Widow Making Protest Hike

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) —patches she's collected along Helen Hall, 70-year-old Philadelphia widow, dressed in overalls and pushing her shopping cart, arrived in Spokane Monday, 16,000 miles from where she started.

For her it's a kind of national protest march, which so far has cost 10 pairs of shoes and six shopping carts.

Wherever she stops, Mrs. Hall heads for the nearest police station or sheriff's office for some food, a place to stay and probably a memento or a badge or patch.

Lumpy Mattresses
She's found jail cells inexpensive, but "those jail mattresses are too lumpy for me."

She's not easily missed, pushing her market basket along the roadside. If that isn't enough, her overalls are covered with police badges and shoulder patches.

Self - Styled "Queen-of-the-Road," Mrs. Helen Hall, 70-year-old Philadelphian, was presented with a Spokane police patch by Spokane Police Lt. Chester F. Harris Tuesday. The widow is pushing a shopping cart across the U.S. and has worn out ten pairs of shoes since she started her walk three years ago as a protest against the Philadelphia Welfare Department. ## Double Ring Ceremony Performed MENASHA — Miss Kathleen Dianne Draheim became the bride of Eugene Norbert Dorn in a 2 p.m. ceremony Saturday at St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. John DeWane officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Draheim, 647 London St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Dorn, 3901 N. Lyndale Drive, Appleton.

Miss Marianne Draheim attended her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Helen Kieffer, Miss Gail Pingle and Miss Susan Marx were bridesmaids. The bride's niece, Miss Kelly Ann Kieffer, Riverside, Calif., served as junior bridal aide.

Kenneth Dorn, Appleton, performed the duties of best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Edward Witt, Louis Quella and Harvey Draheim, Jr. James Merkes and Richard Liewergen seated guests.

The couple was honored at a reception at Sabre Lanes. Mrs. Dorn is employed as a bookkeeper by Appleton State Bank. A graduate of Chicago Technical College, Mr. Dorn is a draftsman with Fox River Tractor Co., Appleton. The couple will reside in Appleton.

Mrs. Robert J. Stuart of Spokane, Wash., the president, said more money is needed because "the times require a more sophisticated approach" to problems.

The money will be sought to: Provide better resources for research, publication and dissemination of information on major government issues.

Make possible the employment of more professional specialists.

Strengthen the league's local, state and national programs.

Step up the league's work in innercity and rural voter education.

The campaign will get under way in January 1969 and is aimed at reaching its goal in 1970, the 50th anniversary of the League.

Heretofore the League has relied on dues and contributions from its 146,000 members, plus financial aid from some corporations.

Mrs. Stuart told of the plan at a news conference just before the opening session of the league's annual convention.

The Wet Blanket
She just knows that whatever you plan won't work because she has a subconscious fear of failure herself and doesn't want to see you succeed where she can't.

AAUW Members to Hear TV Director Russ Widoe

"What to Expect from Instructional TV" will be the topic of Russ Widoe, director and manager of Northeastern Wisconsin In-School Television (NEWIST), when he makes a guest appearance at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women Thursday at the Worcester Art Center.

A former instructor of music at the elementary, high school, and college levels, Mr. Widoe is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, where he earned a bachelor of music education degree and a master's degree in music. He became interested in mass media in 1941, when he took a position with station WIND in Chicago. After a stretch in the South Pacific Theater with the Naval Reserve, Mr. Widoe returned to WIND and then came to Green Bay as program director for station WJPG in 1947.

Always interested in children, Mr. Widoe created and developed the popular "Colonel Caboose" show which made him a familiar figure with youngsters throughout northeastern Wisconsin during his tenure with WBAY-TV from 1955 to 1966. He moved the show to WLUK-TV in 1966, helped to develop the "Bozo Bigtop" show as an adjunct, and then discontinued "Colonel Caboose" to begin his duties with NEWIST.

Producer and Teacher
Over WLUC-TV, NEWIST broadcasts daily educational in-school programs encompassing mathematics, science, language, arts, social studies and music.

California Setting for Honeymoon

CLINTONVILLE — Miss Darl Jean Knaack became the bride of Raymond Schumacher in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony Saturday at St. John Lutheran Church, Marion. Officiating at the double ring rite was the Rev. Frederick Ohlrogge.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Knaack, route 3. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher, route 1, Kaukauna.

Mrs. Albert Schumacher, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Arndt and Mrs. Dale Finger.

Donald Schumacher, Kaukauna, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Ronald Sedo and Dale Finger were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Douglas Knaack and Robert Schumacher.

A reception was held at Rustic Resort.

The couple is honeymooning in California.

Mr. Schumacher is employed at Thiel's Carpet and Floor Service, Appleton. The newlyweds will reside in Appleton.

Russ Widoe

In addition to his other duties, Mr. Widoe produces and teaches the third and fourth grade TV music programs, and plans to add a third series next year for second grade pupils.

Still in its first year, NEWIST is a nonprofit co-op of schools and school districts and serves some 56,000 school children. Already busy planning a 50 per cent increase in services for the 1969-69 school year, Mr. Widoe maintains a rigorously demanding schedule. However he tries to be available for speaking engagements for PTA and other groups in northeastern Wisconsin. He, as well as the majority of educators of today, is convinced that televised school instruction is the most important development in education in recent years, for it adds many varied and hitherto inaccessible materials to the classroom.

When discussing the future, Mr. Widoe says, "Helping kids is my first interest — they hold the key to the future."

Promises Repeated

MENASHA — St. Mary Catholic Church was the setting for the midnight wedding of Miss Jeanne R. Barker and Robert R. Spiering. The Rev. James P. Massart officiated at the rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Howard Barker, 902 Appleton Road, and the late Mr. Barker. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. G. A. Spiering, 210 N. Summit St., Appleton, and the late Mr. Spiering.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Fletzer were honor attendants.

The new Mrs. Spiering is employed by American Can Corp. Her husband attended the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and was affiliated with Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. He is employed by American Can Corp. in the research and development division.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, Florida and the Bahamas Islands, the couple will reside in Menasha.

Marriage Promises Exchanged

KAUKAUNA — Miss Karen Ann Coleman and Timothy James Verhagen exchanged marriage promises in a 3 p.m. ceremony April 15 at St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. James Vande Loo performed the double ring rite.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Coleman, 497 Foerster Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Verhagen, 709 Metoxen Ave.

Mrs. Matthew Andrews, a sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. Serving as best man was Thomas Verhagen, a brother of the bridegroom. David Verhagen and Keith Coleman ushered.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the Elks Club. They honeymooned at St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Verhagen is employed at Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., Appleton. Her husband attended St. Norbert College, DePere, and St. Thomas College, St. Paul, and is serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Area Hygienists Attend State Convention

Mrs. Charles Mann, Hortonville; Miss Lucille Koll, Miss Lynn Ziegler, Miss Carol Marten, Mrs. Jane Will, and Mrs. Winfred Kestley, all of Appleton; Miss Dorothy Keune, Neenah and Miss Marilyn Marquart and Mrs. Ruth Sutliff, Oshkosh, attended the state meeting of the Wisconsin Dental Hygienists' Association Sunday through Wednesday at the Sheraton-Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Betty Friedan, author of the controversial best seller, "The Feminine Mystique," spoke Monday. She told the women to be someone first, and then, if they desire marriage, to continue to be someone with an alert mind. She told them not to bow out of society for 10 or 20 years while raising a family. Mrs. Friedan is now working on another book and also is very active as president of the National Organization for Woman which aims for "true equality for all women."

Governor Warren Knowles spoke at a Tuesday luncheon honoring Miss Carol Jean Tiedt, Hortonville, president of the association.

Elected to serve as vice president for the coming year was Mrs. Fred Doctor, Menasha.

Employers' Mutual Benefit Association members met for the group's 41st annual banquet Thursday at Reetz's Supper Club. Talking together before dinner are Mrs. Marvin Matuszak, Milwaukee, EMBA governing body president; Edward Krueger, Appleton, assistant director of indus-

Secretary Irks Boss 9 Years; Ann Says Problem Not Urgent

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had to smile when I read the letter from the secretary whose boss couldn't keep his hands to himself. She said his "fatherly" pats had become bold pinches and squeezes and she wanted your advice on how to keep him in line without jeopardizing her job.

It so happens that I am a boss and my problem is a secretary who won't keep her hands off me. I am 59 and no handsome lover type. My secretary is 29 and extremely attractive. She is also very competent and knows this office from top to bottom. If I fired her it would take months to break in a new girl. This pawing has been going on for nine years. Please tell me what to do. I am in urgent need of an answer. — Also Uppacrick

Dear Also: If you have been "suffering" with the problem for nine years it can't be very urgent. I will give you the met and approved of them all. The problem is that whenever I leave the house my mother and father both kiss me good-bye as if I am going to Europe or something.

The other evening my dad was in the back of the house and my mother shouted to him, "Come kiss Ellie good-bye — she's leaving." I felt like a fool. Please tell me what to do about this? — Kissing Kin

Dear Kin: Stop complaining. Your parents sound like warm-hearted people who love you and aren't ashamed to show it. If you could read the letters I get from teen-agers whose parents give them the deep freeze you'd appreciate yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter dealing with parents, children and money. You gave the impression that you are opposed to parents giving adult children money. Have you considered the age of the parent and the amount of money involved?

Giving money does not necessarily result in loss of income or security. It might merely require an investment that would yield more tax-free dollars. An annual gift of $3,000 would not only endear the parent to the child, but yield greater net results after estate taxes. And no gift tax would be involved either.

Since you generally consult experts why didn't you consult an estate planner before you answered the mother's letter? — Great Neck Attorney

Dear Great Neck: I didn't need to consult an expert on that one. I knew the answer. And it has nothing to do with estate planning or gift tax.

Your notion that an annual present of $3,000 will "endear" a parent to a child is rubbish. Too many confused parents have the notion that money and gifts are appropriate substitutes for time and attention. Irrevocable trust funds are appealing because "it's cheaper than giving the money to the government." Granted, some trusts make a great deal of sense, especially where there is an incompetent or foolish wife who would blow an estate if she had the chance. But the other side of the coin should not be ignored. If a kid knows he is due to inherit a staggering sum at 21 it may kill his incentive to stay in school or go to work (heaven forbid). And then you have a bum on your hands.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Landers same advice I gave the secretary who wrote, Kitcherkidin'.

Instead of Holding its annual Spring Rummage Sale, the Silver Cross Circle voted to aid the King's Daughters State Indian Project by sending clothing and rummage sale items directly to needy Indians. Mrs. Owen Kuehnsted, Mrs. Steven Pfankuch, Mrs. Carl Stracka and Mrs. Lawrence Pooler brought items to the home of Mrs. Jerome Gomm, 924 N. Fox St., who is interested in the welfare of Indians at Neopit and has transported many items to St. Charles School for distribution. Mrs. Harley Splitt, Silver Cross Indian chairman, and Mrs. Kuehnsted were in charge of the project.

Lovelier You

Reckless Diets

A Lovely asks: What exactly is a fad diet? I often read that such diets are dangerous to health. But at what point dieting becomes faddy is not clear to me.

The Answer: A diet is unsafe and spoken of as faddy—

—When the daily count falls below 1200 calories. (Unless you are under the strict supervision of a physician.)

—When basic foods and nutrients are eliminated. (Bread or potato, for instance.)

—When any food is over-emphasized to a degree that throws nutrients off balance. (An intake of raw fruit at the expense of protein.)

—When meals are skipped. (Breakfast of black coffee and cigarettes.)

—When so-called diet pills and appetite depressors are part of the program. (These must be prescribed by a physician. Otherwise use may lead to serious illness.)

—When a pre-packaged liquid diet is the sole food taken. (Even though such products are well-balanced, the dieter must have some solid food in order to stick with it.)

—When a regimen fails to re-educate the appetite through increased knowledge of nutrition. (Eating less and getting more out of it!)

—When physical activity has no part in the program. (Exercise helps keep the mind off food and the food off the hips.)

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness send for my booklet, "Secrets of a Lovely Figure." It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions, to overcome grooming problems, such as fuzzi, freckles and blemishes; to move with grace and poise. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Transform Coal Bin to Fruit Cellar
BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: I would like to fix up our old coal bin to make a fruit and preserves cellar. Must it be completely clean before painting? — Grand Rapids.
A: Certainly not hospital clean. Give it more or less the following: Get off what you can with a vacuum first; then scrub with a stiff brush and a hot solution of washing soda or other strong scouring powder; then rinse. What coal dust remains embedded in the concrete block won't matter.
Q: It's a constant battle to keep my children's fingerprints from soiling the paint around the wall switches in the living room, kitchen and their bedroom. I am sure that if I scrub the paint much more, I will wear it off. Is there any easy cleaner? — Worcester.
A: Wiping with turpentine is often very effective. You can also do a great deal to prevent the smudging by fastening those sheets of clear plastic under the switch plate so the immediate area of wall is covered.
Q: A friend tells me that the reason my porch roof leaks is because its pitch is too flat for shingles. He said it should be covered with copper or built-up roofing. Is he right? What is the lowest pitch for a shingle roof? — Buffalo.
A: Five inches to the foot is generally considered the lowest pitch for shingles. Below that, your friend's recommendations of copper or built-up roofing are very practical.
Q: For some reason, one of the seams in the linoleum on our kitchen sink counter top has opened up a little. Before too much water can work down and Seen in London! As the more planned hair styles start coming into fashion, the girls who like their hair long are looking for new ways to combine the two! The easiest seen here is the traditional ponytail with a wide bow at the top and the "new touch" of another bow at the end... but be sure to "blouse" the hair between the bows to give it a fullness so that it will show from the front and not be just straight hair caught between two bows! cause damage, how can I seal this up? I would prefer to do this invisibly but if this is not possible, I'd at least like to make it waterproof — Worcester.

A: If you have a small extra piece of the linoleum, pulverize perhaps half a cupful (depends on how long the seam). Mix this with clear varnish into a colored paste. Work this into the seam and smooth it level. It may not be the world's most invisible repair, but it will still look pretty good. Or, you can simply drizzle in clear epoxy adhesive to fill the seam. Either way will keep water out.

Bringing Up Baby.
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

CAN YOU REALLY "SPOIL" A BABY?
The way I look at it, a very young baby needs all the love and tenderness he (or she) can get. Cuddling, baby talk and all the rest help baby develop as a confident, sociable little being.
Later on, when baby gets around on all fours and investigates shelves and closets, you can temper tenderness with a firm "no" when necessary.

Toddler Sandwich Spread
Mix together 1/2 cup Gerber Strained or Junior Carrots and 2 Tbs. peanut butter. (Vary by adding raisins or bits of crisp bacon.) Good!

Know why Gerber Carrots are so good for your baby? Because carrots have the highest vitamin-A value of any baby vegetable. (Others high in this... Gerber Sweet Potatoes, Squash and Creamed Spinach.)

Dan Gerber on carrots. "The carrots used to make Gerber Strained and Junior Carrots are probably fresher, tastier and better-looking than those you can buy and prepare yourself."
"No 'green shoulders' on the carrots Gerber processes. Our agricultural team selects carrots that are high in vitamin-A value and natural sugar content... bright in color and free from bitterness."

Vegetables galore. From Gerber: 10 strained, 7 junior vegetables for their mineral and vitamin variety. Gerber has 127 nourishing foods... created especially for your baby. Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan 49412.

Situation under control. Suppose baby likes fruit to the exclusion of meat and vegetables. Why not serve the fruit afterward? Variety is so important in baby's diet — best to let him benefit from other foods first, then let him enjoy his favorite.

A tender story. Would you believe there's a special machine to measure the tenderness of peas? We use one at Gerber. Before the peas are picked. When peas are fully ripe, they're shelled, iced and rushed to processing—six hours from field to plant.

person takes up bridge, he should learn to play a hand without guessing.

South won the first trick with the nine of spades and led another spade to dummy's jack. He then returned a diamond from dummy, hoping to guess the right play.

Unfortunately, there was no correct guess because West had both the ace and queen of diamonds. When South tried to finesse with the jack of diamonds, West won with the queen and returned a spade to dummy's ace.

South ran the clubs, ending in dummy, and led another diamond, losing the king to West's ace. West cashed the king of spades and led a heart in response to encouraging signals in that suit by East. South could get only eight tricks, having guessed his way to defeat.

Should Use Spades

After winning the second trick in dummy with the jack of spades, declarer should cash the ace of spades and run the four clubs, ending in his own hand. South then leads the queen of spades to West's king. West is forced to return a red suit.

West's best return is a heart, and East's jack forces out the ace. South returns the ten of hearts to the king, setting up dummy's queen. East shifts to the ten of diamonds, and South covers with the jack, losing to the queen.

West can take his second diamond trick, but his last card then yields the ninth trick either to dummy's queen of hearts or to South's king of diamonds. South makes his contract by forcing the opponents to lead the red suits rather than by trying to guess the right play himself.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold: S-A J 6, H-Q 6 3, D-6 5 3, C-Q J 6 2. What do you say?

Answer: bid 1-NT. This response to one club shows about 8 to 10 points in high cards, with balanced distribution and no biddable major suit. If you had four low clubs instead of Q-J-6-2, you would raise to two clubs (or even bid one diamond) rather than bid 1-NT.

Youth Drowns in Milwaukee River

GRAFTON (AP) — A Milwaukee youth drowned Sunday in the Milwaukee River south of Grafton when his kayak capsized during an outing with his family.

Ozaukee County authorities found the body of Bruce A. Wolff Jr., 13, wedged under a tree that had fallen across the stream.

The boy was wearing a life preserver and a helmet when his family last saw him paddling downstream.

A search was organized about 20 minutes later when the youth failed to arrive at a point downstream where his family was to have met him.

To Your Good Health

Blood Stoppage Cause Of Many Heart Attacks

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: One hears so much about heart attacks these days. What does a heart attack really mean? How does the heart act at the time? What are the after-effects? Can it be normal again? Can one have a heart attack and not know it? — Mrs. W. L. F.

We ought to be hearing about heart attacks, because heart disease remains the cause of more deaths than anything else, even cancer. Yet a very great many people, like you, have not had the basic action of the heart explained to them.

The heart actually is a large, strong muscle which encases four chambers through which the blood flows. When the muscle contracts (that is, when the heart "beats") the chambers are squeezed. There are valves connecting the chambers — one-way valves, so the blood is squeezed forward only. Not back. That's how the heart pumps blood.

Now the heart muscle, like all other parts of the body, needs a steady supply of blood itself. If a clot stops up a branch of the artery (coronary) feeding the heart muscle, some part of the muscle is left without necessary blood. The amount of muscle affected depends on where the blockage occurs.

The affected part of the muscle dies and is gradually replaced by scar tissue. But at the moment of the attack, the muscle goes into spasm — that is, severe cramps. Immediately after an attack, the first requirement is to have the patient lie perfectly still, so the damaged heart will not have to work any harder than absolutely necessary.

In addition, the pain is very severe, so drugs are given for attack, though. Only too often there is no way to reduce just in certain spots.

Note to Mrs. R. E. W.: Electrolysis is the only permanent method for removing unwanted hair. Done by a trained electrolysis, the scarring is so slight as to be noticeable only on the closest inspection.

IPC Alumni Elects Officers

New officers have been elected for the Alumni Association of The Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Dr. Richard W. Brown, assistant vice president-director of research, Hammermill Paper Co., is the new chairman. Dr. William R. Haselton, vice president-general manager, St. Regis Paper Co., Tacoma, Wash., is vice chairman. Dr. E. R. Laughlin, administrative coordinator at The Institute, is secretary-treasurer. Dr. Paul B. Hansen, superintendent of information services, Kimberly-Clark Corp., research and engineering division, is junior committee-man.

Filling out the executive committee of the association are Dr. John S. Barton, director of research, Crown Zellerbach Corp., central research division, Camas, Wash., the past chairman, and Dr. William H. Aiken, vice president, research and Development, Union Camp Corp., New York, senior committeeman.

Mayor Wants 'Nudie' Movies to be Walled In

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mayor Dewitt McKinley told the City Council Monday he wants drive-in theater operators to build walls around theaters where what he called "nudie movies" are shown.

He said youngsters shouldn't be exposed to the films. Besides, he said, the films create traffic hazards.

KHS Seniors Pick Class Speakers

KAUKAUNA — Robert Rutter and James Van Dyke have been named class speakers for high school commencement night exercises June 5.

The boys were elected by their classmates. All seniors were eligible for the honor. The class first elected seven finalists for consideration as speakers and then held a second election to narrow it down to two.

Both boys are experienced in public speaking having participated in debate, forensics and dramatics.

richer than other leading coffees

Coffee is all we make. And we've found a way to make it better. A cup of coffee gets its flavor from what scientists call "available flavor solids." We have developed a new way of blending and roasting that gives our coffee more of these flavor solids than other leading coffees. As the chart shows—13% more, 14% more, even 15% more! You get a cup of coffee that has more flavor, more body, more strength. Even with cream and sugar the richer coffee flavor comes through. Enjoy some soon.

Steiger Endorsed For Second Term

FOND DU LAC — Caucusing he defeated two years ago. Sixth District Republicans Monday night voted unanimously to endorse Congressman William A. Steiger in his quest for his second term in the House of Representatives.

Just minutes before the caucus, Steiger announced his intention to seek a second term at a press conference.

Steiger said he anticipates a rigorous campaign in opposing John A. Race, the man whom Traditionally the Sixth District is Republican during a presidential year but we have to look back to 1964 when Race was successful. In 1966 I received only 52 per cent of the vote so I am sure that we can look forward to a very extensive and intensive campaign," Steiger explained.

He predicted that the major issue will be economic status of the nation.

In his acceptance speech Steiger pointed to the cost of living increases which he said is "perhaps the most clearcut example of the cruel hoax of the Johnson-Humphrey administration."

Cost of Living
He said the cost of living increase is a hidden tax which falls hardest on those least able to afford it — the old, the disabled, the poor, the disadvantaged in our society.

"We must change the leadership of this country if we are to restore financial stability, if we are to halt the balance of payment deficit, if we are to stabilize our economy and maintain the stability of the dollar," Steiger said.

He reaffirmed his stand in support of Richard Nixon as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. "I think that Nelson Rockefeller is a fine governor but I think Dick Nixon would make a better candidate and president."

Town Lawyers Attack Petition Wording Error

Court Hears Claim Of Wrong Directions In Annexation Paper

OSHKOSH — Town of Menasha challengers attacked the legal description of the Banta Annexation this morning on the basis that the word west appears where east was apparently intended.

The arguments came out in the second day of Circuit Court trial on the Schwarzbauer and Banta annexations.

Arguments turned to the Banta case after completing debate on Schwarzbauer annexation, which rested heavily on apparent discrepancies in calculations made by different engineers.

As the town opened its challenge of the 303 acre Banta Annexation, Town Clerk Robert Jacobs and Engineer Art Scholl testified there was an error in the legal description outlining the territory annexed last July.

Opposite Direction
Jacobs and later Scholl testified that their interpretation of the description placed the western most boundary of part of the area 660 feet west of a key section corner. Scholl testified that the official map circulated with legal documents at the Eleven Young People in Appleton are learning about the world of merchandising and marketing in a comparatively new program at Appleton High School - West. Distributive Education (DE) provides classroom and on-the-job training. Linda Fitz, one of those in-involved, works with Richard Hoffman in solving a problem she encountered in her job at Hoffman Drug Store. Distributive Education Week, which ends Saturday, calls the public's attention to the program. (Post-Crescent Photo)

'Distributive Education' Significant Week for Students in Program

This week is significant for a number of Appleton High School-East and West students involved in the distributive education (DE) program, for this is DE Week.

DE is a program of instruction in merchandising, marketing and management. It is carried on under the supervision of the school administration with help and cooperation of the local business community.

It offers vocational training in marketing and merchandising goods and services leading to occupations in retailing, risk bearing, advertising, financing, wholesaling, storing, transportation and manufacturing.

A panel of speakers will be traveling to each of the four junior high schools to address incoming sophomores, Wednesday. Their talks will include "An Introduction to DE," and "The Value of the Program to the Employer, Supervisor and the Student."

Speakers throughout the day will include James Kissinger, counselor at AHS-West; Walter Klemens, counselor at East; Nona Volpe, senior DE student, and several businessmen of Appleton, including Roger Pittman, personnel manager and Jim Mervyn, assistant personnel manager, Sears, Roebuck and Co., Ron Reynolds, manager, and Mrs. Rita Torbeck, department manager, H. C. Prange Co., Ralph Boettcher, manager, and Frank Sims, assistant manager, J. C. Penney Co.

Display Windows
A display window at H. C. Prange's is used to tell the story of DE. The theme will be "The World of Marketing," and the window is planned by the DE Co-op class and the commercial art class.

There are 11 seniors involved in the DE this year. They are Nona Volpe and Shirley Coffey at Sears; Linda Fitz, Hoffman Drugs; Kathy Spichel, Pat Luedtke, Charles Palmer, and Dan Schubring, all at Prange; Marie Wilz, Campbells; Robin Yaeger, Montgomery Ward; James Buss and Ron Schwabender, at Penneys.

During their working hours this year, these young people were given varied experiences at the stores where they worked, including selling, pricing, advertising, display, stocking,

Big Brothers of Winnebago Start First Fund Drive

NEENAH-MENASHA — Big Brothers of Winnebago County launched a fund drive today to support its program of providing volunteer, adult male help for fatherless boys.

Some 33,000 letters were mailed out to residents of the county asking their support for the program.

The first year budget for the new organization was set at $20,598, including $9,000 for a professional executive director, $3,800 for secretarial help, $2,100 for rent, $1,400 for furniture and equipment and $1,215 for telephone and utilities.

Inventory, store policies, and employer-employee relations. Other situations were covered in classroom work and with outside speakers and field trips.

Courses Outlined
The DE course begins in the sophomore year with orientation; juniors continue with DE fundamentals and seniors enroll in the DE cooperative program.

After graduation, students qualify for about 16 types of businesses, though they are not all-inclusive. Included are general merchandise stores, restaurants, service stations, specialty stores, grocery and meat markets, warehouse wholesalers, manufacturers' sales-jobs, agents and brokers, insurance advertising, hotel and motel, real estate, transportation, specialty service store and banking.

According to John Graff, DE coordinator for the Appleton School System, the program is necessary because one out of every two employed people in the United States work in distributive occupations.

"New business methods, advancing technology, increasing competition, require more specialized training for the young people who plan to enter the world of distributive occupation," he explained.

K-C Sewerage Loads, Fees to be Reviewed

NEENAH — A "long-overdue" meeting between the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission and officials from Kimberly-Clark Corporation Monday evening produced considerable heat but promised some light on at least two points: reviews of fees and loads.

The 10-year contract between K-C and the commission, which has until next Feb. 15 to run, has been under attack in recent months, especially by two new commissioners, Adam Haber and Gilbert Krueger.

The sewage load provided by the firm since K-C's new clarifier went into operation March 6 has caused an "unsettling problem," since it is sent over only a few hours each day. Edward DenDooven, commission president remarked.

Filter Trouble
"A more even flow is better for our operation, particularly at a time when we're having trouble maximizing our filters," he added.

F. D. Hollenbeck, plant manager at the Lakeview Mill, and Abbott Byfield, K-C's public affairs director, replied the company's position was not "inflexible" and solutions to the problems could be reached through future study and meetings with the commission.

Byfield agreed with Krueger that Monday night's session was "long-overdue" and claimed that most of the problems stemmed from "misunderstandings."

Hollenbeck, who had been accused by Krueger of giving conflicting information about the wastes coming from the new clarifier, pointed out the hydraulic load to the sewage plant had been reduced in the past two months.

Load Dropped

The daily average for the 12 months prior to the start-up of K-C's clarifier was 695,000 gallons and 4,640 pounds of suspended solids, Hollenbeck said. The month after the clarifier was in operation, this dropped to 397,000 gallons and 5,230 pounds and for the eight days after the Easter start-up (April 15-22), the load was reduced to 232,000 gallons and 3,490 pounds per day.

"It's the same stuff," Hollenbeck stated, "Only it's more concentrated."

The major problem, the commissioners decided, was that K-C's effluent, consisting of wash water, sanitary sewage and wood fibers, was moving through the sewage plant only a few hours each day.

Hollenbeck said Kampo Transport Co. was hauling effluent from the clarifier to a dump site in the Town of Neenah from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and again from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The wastes from Lakeview Mill are now piped to the Neenah-Menasha plant from 3 to 4:30 a.m. and again from 3 to 4:30 p.m., or only three hours out of a 24-hour period, he stated.

Winneconne Voters Okay School Site

WINNECONNE — After lengthy debate Monday night, the electorate of the Winneconne School District voted by a margin of nearly three to one to purchase the Charles Buchanan property for a new high school.

A special meeting called by the board of education of the Winneconne Community School District No. 1 was called for the express purpose of taking up the option to purchase the Buchanan property for $60,000 and approve it for the high school site.

The vote was 218 for purchase and 82 for turning down the option.

Arthur Lehman, former superintendent of schools, was elected chairman of the meeting and conducted a 90 minute open discussion session which was lively in spots and represented strong divergent views on expansion of a building program for the rapidly growing 185 square mile school district.

Which Direction?

How to check rising crime, and how best to achieve the goal of equal rights and responsibilities for all citizens, are high priority problems for our nation.

Many Americans, perhaps most of them, believe the answers lie in more and better education for everyone, improved housing, equal employment opportunities, organized public and private efforts to eliminate conditions that breed crime and human misery.

All of these call for building a better society, in physical terms and in terms of mental attitudes that will unite the country in achieving solutions. Yet a relatively small number seek "instant" cures, challenging the institutions and processes of government. They advocate civil disobedience, organized protests in various forms. A few even espouse and promote rioting and violence.

The message of Law Day USA this year reminds us that we cannot build by destroying. We cannot strengthen some freedoms by weakening others. In our communities, and in the nation, we can only advance through united action within the framework of law.

It is a message to all Americans, worth noting and remembering.

Swim Program At AHS-East Not Endorsed

Finance Committee Believes Outdoor Pools Are Sufficient

A group of city officials frowned Monday night on laying out an unbudgeted $5,100 for a learn-to-swim program at the Appleton High School-East pool during the summer months.

The council's finance committee was unanimous in its recommendation that a request by the recreation department be denied.

Aldermen felt learn-to-swim programs being conducted at Meade and Erb Park pools have been most successful and saw no need for spending more money for an expanded program at this time.

Ald. John Steidl (18th) and Robert Roemer (8th) said they felt an excellent summer program was being conducted at the two municipal outdoor pools during the summer months.

Large Enough

They also pointed out the pools were large enough to accommodate the number of youngsters getting lessons.

The way it was explained to the committee in a letter, the East High pool would be used during the summer months to provide swim instructions to special groups, including some adults. Revenue was estimated at $1,500.

However, the committee did indicate if the time should come when Meade and Erb pools are inadequate to handle the summer instruction program, then additional facilities would be provided.

"The winter months are when public swim programs should be held at the East High pool," Steidl asserted.

Others on the committee said they, too, were under the impression the East pool would be used for the public during winter months when Meade and Erb pools were closed.

Available for Everyone

"When that pool was built, I was led to believe, as were other members of the council, that it would be available for anyone to use in the community," Steidl added.

The recreation department rents the pool from the school board for open Sunday swims. It does not have use of the school pool during the week.

hand (from a recent operation for infection), had a receding hairline, and had a couple of gold fillings and chipped teeth. Tentative identification was made.

Brown County authorities then rushed Burnham's sister to Appleton. She cinched the identification. Authorities at least now had a foundation on which to begin building leads.

Further leads came even as preparations were being made for an autopsy at Appleton Memorial Hospital. Outagamie authorities said they had to keep confidential the nature of information received from Green Bay concerning the suspects.

Before Midnight

However, shortly before midnight Monday, four investigators left Memorial Hospital for Green Bay with what they believed to be one of the first and one of the best leads. They had learned earlier that Burnham's car was found wrecked in the parking lot of an eastside Green Bay school.

Once in Green Bay, Outagamie authorities continued to get full cooperation from city and county police, Spice and Marx explained. The three law agencies sifted information until they had a solid lead.

The cooperation continued as the various lawmen went to Green Bay homes to take the two youths into custody.

And the cooperation was still evident today as police tied up loose ends in the investigation which at 3:30 p.m. Monday looked almost hopeless.

have produced college graduates. However, Wall said dropouts along the way are only 14 per cent.

"The hope is for these students to return to their own communities after college graduation," Wall explained.

The students for Appleton will be 11th graders this fall and 10 more the next fall, Wall said. With more students, there are plans for another house, and, in the long range, similar programs with schools in other Fox Cities and other Wisconsin cities, including Milwaukee.

The program started with 55 boys at Dartmouth and now exceeds 600 youths, he said. It was started by officials of several leading private preparatory schools but had to be expanded because of the need.

In selecting Appleton as a pilot community in the Midwest, the project's outreach has spanned half the country after being almost totally centered around New England.

Community support is essential if the project is to succeed, Wall said, reiterating statements by Thomas M. Mikula, national ABC director, Dartmouth College. Other activities outside the school also are planned for the youths, Wall said.

About 75 per cent of ABC students are Negro and are recruited by the Independent Schools Talent Search Program. A local committee of Appleton people will select students from the screened list of recruits.

Unlike Past Years when Appleton firemen raised civic funds by personal contacts, donations now will be sought through the mail. Firemen are sending letters to business places, explaining their projects and seeking donations. Free tickets to the firemen's annual dance, on May 17, are included. Funds cently in Detroit, had decided that the church must do more with their Negro people if it is to survive.

"The Catholic Church is in peril in the black community unless more black men are recruited for the priesthood, laymen allowed to serve as deacons, and the black priests given more power not only on the diocesan level but in their own community," the caucus had written.

In the same document it also was stated that more funds are needed for both black and white leadership training programs.

"So you see, tremendous sacrifices will be asked of you if you want the church to survive in the black ghetto," Brother Ashe commented.

However, the church's first interest should be to supply the human needs of the people — not conversion, explained the Capuchin brother, who deals with such needs as food and clothing daily.

Fires of Hell

"It is useless for missionaries to talk about the fires of hell when the people are freezing in their apartments. You see, hell looks pretty good when you're freezing," he said.

To illustrate his point, Brother Ashe used a modern-day parable of two cities — one he called the jungle lined with asphalt, the other the suburbs.

"In the suburbs and areas surrounding the jungle, the people had the words 'I am a Christian' written on their chests in gold letters. These good Christians decided to do something for those dwelling in the jungle.

"But their downfall was that they wanted to save them without going into the jungle. Later more 'Christians' with guilty consciences came, built separate churches for the people in the jungle and when they were empty, decided, 'These people just don't appreciate what we do for them.'

Live in Jungle

"But then came men who were willing to live in the jungle and help, and the people asked each other who these men were. When someone said they were Christians, it was difficult to believe that because, you see, they did not wear gold-lettered signs."

But there are so few of these men, the Capuchin brother said, and the Black voice crying for help to relieve him of the hunger and bring him light still there.

"Black voices have cried to you for years and you still don't hear them. Unfortunately, the hands that held picket signs now are holding matches," he said.

"What does it profit if we page through our prayer books when the rest of the world is crying for our help? The God you all believe in and are so close to, gave you a free will to choose, but as Christians, do you really have a choice of whether to answer those cries for help?" Brother Ashe concluded.

promise by Supv. Joseph De Bruin, Town of Buchanan, then parks committee chairman, that the project would be dropped if federal aid could not be obtained.

However, efforts by the parks committee to have $150,000 included in the 1968 county budget for the purchase and start of development of the park failed after members of the county board made an inspection trip to the site last November.

At that time a dispute developed on efforts to get an option on a 39-acre parcel of land, with a home, owned by Raymond Kamps. This was later resolved by permitting Kamps to keep the house and 10 acres of surrounding land.

Efforts toward taking final action on the proposal were rejected by the board in December and January but in February supervisors approved $50,000 as the county's share of purchasing the land, on the condition there would be no immediate development.

A gradual change in attitude was indicated on the part of the county board when, on April 18, supervisors gave the parks and recreation committee authority to go to condemnation proceedings, if necessary, to obtain the last 20-acre parcel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Magolski. The committee indicated condemnation would be used only as a last resort.

Heated Bearing Causes Fire at Paper Firm

An overheated bearing on a paper machine was blamed for a minor fire at Appleton Coated Paper Co., 825 E. Wisconsin Ave., about 1:15 p.m. Monday. Appleton firemen were called to the scene when dust and grease on the machine ignited.

Approval Given To Sidewalk, Utility Projects

Committee Will Recommend Jobs To City Council

Several projects, including sidewalk and sewer and water installations, were approved by the street and sanitation committee Monday and will be brought before the city council Wednesday.

No price tags were placed on approved projects, but Frank Keuler, director of public works, indicated cost estimates will be prepared.

Sidewalk replacement was approved at 226 S. Morrison St. and 1026 S. Madison St. Installations were approved for much of the area near the new McKinley Elementary School site at Taft Avenue and Greenview Street and from 1725 to 1731 N. Douglas Street.

Proposed Resolution

Ald. James Bethke (9th) proposed the resolution for the extensive installations at the school site. Portions of the area will not be sidewalked until grading and graveling is completed, Keuler said.

"The sidewalks are needed to support the student population which will use the school," Keuler said.

Sanitary sewer and water comply with state and federal pollution abatement requirements.

Need Information

The consultants — Polkowski, Boyle and Associates, Madison-based engineers — need information on hydraulic, organic and suspended solids loads discharged to the city's treatment plant from industries before making recommendations.

The city council appropriated $4,000 in November to hire the consultants who are continuing analysis of the plant operations where a Chicago consultant left off about 18 months ago.

The treatment plant addition is meeting capacity expectations but, Keuler told the council in November, it is breaking down 96 per cent of waste intake and the by-product is an "enormous amount of sludge."

Tuesday, April 30, 1968

The Post-Crescent

projects okayed in a preliminary resolution were on Midpark Drive from Peter Street to the alley south of Peter; First Avenue from Meade to Rankin streets, and Rankin from First to Florida avenues.

This is the first step in the requests which now must be okayed by the city council, then the board of public works will prepare costs and individual assessments.

Hearing Conducted

A public hearing will be conducted after residents involved are informed of their costs, Keuler said.

Grading and graveling were approved on Eugene Street from Glendale Avenue to Market Street, the alley of Peter to Buchanan Street to Midpark, Midpark from Peter to alley south of Peter, Rankin from First to Florida, First from Meade to Rankin and Edgemere Drive from Kensington Drive to Briarcliff Drive.

The committee denied a request to extend N. Drew Street to Outagamie County Trunk 00 because of a policy not to provide a Drew access to busy Northland Avenue (00).

A request by Aid Association for Lutherans for an exit from its parking lot onto N. Appleton Street was referred to the public safety committee.

Utilities Requested

The committee also referred a request by James Gresl, Appleton contractor, for sewer and water and gravel roads for his lots on S. Jackson and Roland streets. Gresl said he needed the roads to make the lots worth developing.

The request was deferred until the water commission acts on the sewer and water request but the committee indicated city policy was against extending to deadend areas.

Other proposals approved were repairing the low spot S. Superior Street, in front of Gibson Carage, where water stands; repairing or replacing curb and gutter in the 200 block of E. Kimball Street, and placing a litter receptacle at 1423 W. Melvin Street.

The committee also okayed, on a trial basis, a plan to sweep downtown College Avenue early Sunday morning to provide a more attractive avenue on Sunday for visitors during the warm weather.

School Board May Use City Street Trunks

Street department equipment will be offered to the Appleton Board of Education to haul 5,000 yards of donated dirt to the practice field being repaired at Appleton West High School.

The street and sanitation committee approved this move Monday after Public Works Director Frank Keuler agreed with the action so long as regular city services are not jeopardized.

Cost was estimated at $7,500 to load and haul the dirt donated by H. C. Prange Co. The practice field has been cited for improper drainage and repair was decided necessary.

Ald. John M. Steidl (18th) school advisory committee chairman, appeared before the committee with the proposal and said work should be only for West High and be charged back to the school budget.

Young Hobby Club Sign Your Autograph the Funny-Autograph Way

BY CAPPY DICK

Get your friends at school to make funny autographs.

There are two kinds. One is called Autograph Portraits. Examples are shown in Figures 1 and 2, both of which were made by a boy named Don Jones. If you study Figure 1 you will see Don made a portrait of his autograph playing ball, his favorite sport. "D" forms his trunk. "O" is the ball, "E" is the turtleneck of his sweater and "S" serves as his feet.

The other kind of funny autograph uses the blotting method. Have a classmate write his name with pen and ink, using a generous amount of ink. While the ink is wet, fold the paper lengthwise through the name. Press hard to cause the ink to run. When you open the paper you will find the signature remaining but, as in Figure 3, surrounded by a big blot. Every blotograph will be different.

Devote a page or two of your scrapbook to classmates' funny autographs.

O'Neill Hurls 3-Hit Shutout; Fontenot Blasts 3-Run Homer

BY RON WITT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A pitcher who hadn't completed a game in two years and a supposedly "washed-up" outfielder sparkled like two diamonds in the glow of Goodland

Field's new $59,000 lighting system Monday night in guiding the Appleton Foxes to their second straight victory.

Right-hander Steve O'Neill fired a 3-hitter in a route-going performance on the mound while Curt Fontenot drove in four runs with three hits, one a 3-run homer in the seventh inning, to power the Foxes past the Quincy Cubs, 5-0.

Cedar Rapids and Dubuque also notched triumphs Monday night to tie Appleton for the

Dodgers Snap Cardinal Win String at Six

Cincinnati Goes On 22-Hit Binge, Trims Astros, 17-2

BY DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers gave Walter Alston a warm welcome. The Cincinnati Reds turned Grady Hatton's homecoming into a holocaust.

With Manager Alston in uniform for the first time this season, the Dodgers snapped St. Louis' six-game winning string Monday night by edging the National League leaders 3-2 at Los Angeles.

At Houston, meanwhile, Cincinnati went on a 22-hit rampage that crushed Hatton's Astros 17-2 in their first home game in two weeks.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-4 under the lights and Atlanta downed San Francisco 7-2 in an afternoon game.

Relief Help

Don Sutton, making his first start for the Dodgers after being recalled from the minors, stalled the Cardinals with relief help from Jim Brewer and made Alston's homecoming a happy occasion. The 56-year-old pilot had missed the Dodgers' first 16 games while recovering from surgery for the removal of kidney stones.

Sutton scored one run, drove in another and blanked the Cards on three hits until the seventh inning, when two singles and Curt Flood's two-run double closed the gap. Brewer protected the right-hander's first victory with 2 1/2 innings of hitless relief.

Brewer has been touched for one run in 8 1/2 innings over-all. Four other Dodger relievers—Jack Billingham, John Purdin, Jim Grant and Hank Aguirre—have yet to be scored upon.

6-Game Streak

While the Cardinals' feathers were being ruffled after their six-game streak at St. Louis, the Astros returned to Houston to find their usually friendly Astrodome transformed into a chamber of horrors.

Houston played its first six games in the Dome, winning five and completing the home stand with a 1-0, 24-inning victory over the New York Mets on April 15. Then the Astros went on the road... and lost eight of nine.

The Reds wasted little time in making it nine of 10 and relegating Houston to the NL cellar. They scored in every inning but

Jenkins Strains Tendon, Leaves Game in Sixth

X-rays were not planned and it was not known if Jenkins would miss a pitching turn.

O'Neill Fontenot

Midwest League lead. All three clubs are 2-0.

The contest marked the first use of Goodland's recently installed mercury lights. A special ceremony involving Foxes and city officials plus other key figures of the light project was performed before the action got underway.

Everything in the new system functioned normally, with the exception of two small lights at the base of one standard in center field. Otherwise, the "daylight" effect, which the manufacturer promised was achieved, especially in the home plate area.

Old System

Just for fun, the new set of lights was turned off moments after the game's conclusion, and the old system, which is to be removed later this week, was turned on again. The difference was something to behold for the 521 fans on hand. Some wondered aloud how teams had ever managed to play there at night under the old lights, so stark was the contrast.

O'Neill, who compiled an unimpressive 1-2 record with Saratoga last year along with a 5.63 earned run average, struck out eight Cub hitters and walked only three in hurling the shutout. He allowed just one runner to third base (in the ninth inning) and in one stretch set down 11 batters in succession.

The Foxes backed O'Neill's efforts with a lusty 14-hit assault against three Cub pitchers. Fontenot rapped two line singles and the 3-run blast that cleared the left field barrier.

The latter blow travelled about 345 feet. He fled to center in his fourth at bat.

The 3-for-4 performance gave

Xavier's Track Team Posts 94-24 Victory Over Fox Lutheran

Will Become Prep Mentor In Milwaukee

Clyde Rusk, head basketball coach and assistant professor of physical education at Lawrence University for the last five years, has resigned effective in June.

Rusk has accepted a high school teaching and coaching position in the Milwaukee public schools system. The Milwaukee system does not announce specific teaching and coaching assignments until late in the summer. No successor has been selected.

Rusk stated, "I have received a fine opportunity to coach in the areas of my special interests in a highly competitive league, and I am greatly looking forward to the excitement of working in this new position."

Rusk's 5-year record from 1963-64 through 1967-68 was 41 wins and 69 losses. Lawrence's 10-year record previous to that time had been 42 wins and 159 losses.

Records Achieved

Among the statistical records which Rusk's teams have written in Lawrence annals are: —Most points scored in one game — Lawrence-Grinnell, 1966-67 season, 120.

—Best team game average — 1963-64 season, 77.3 per game.

—Most field goals scored in one game — against Grinnell, 1965-66, 47.

—Most points scored by one player in a single game — Dick Schultz, 45 against Grinnell in 1967.

—Most points scored in three years — Joel Ungrodt, 1,247 in the seasons contained in the calendar years 1961-64.

—Most assists in one game — 32 against Coe in 1968.

—Best individual shooting percentage for one season —

Appleton Xavier's track squad scored sweeps in five events and also won both relays in romping to a 94-24 victory over Fox Valley Lutheran in a dual meet on the Foxes' track Monday afternoon.

The Hawks, who are unbeaten in four outdoor meets for the season, took all three places in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the half and mile runs and the shot put. Brock Woods and Bill Roberts captured the only firsts for FVL in the 440-yard dash and the pole vault, respectively.

Leading the way for Xavier were double-winners Brad Graff and Ed Wenning. Graff won the 100 in a 10.55-second clocking and also copped the 220 in :25.4. Wenning's time of 23.8 topped the field in the 180-yard low hurdles, and the sophomore also won the high jump at 5 feet, 6 inches.

Other Xavier winners include Lee Hartzheim in the mile, Dave Lang in the high hurdles, Dick Koller in the half mile, Dan (Boone) Schweitzer in the long jump, Dave Wiltzius in the shot put and Bob Knoll in the discus.

The Xavier 880 relay team of Gary Nack, Jim Eisner, Dan Bleier, and Graff stepped off a 1:42.5 to win that event, and Stu Oliver, Pete Van Susteren, Jim Knapstein, and Hartzheim combined to take the mile relay in 3:51.9.

Woods turned in a 55.9-second mark in grabbing the first in the 440. He was also second in the high hurdles and third in the pole vault. Teammate Roberts was the pole vault winner at 10 feet.

Packer Income, Expenses Up

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers told stockholders Monday that income and expenses increased last year—but the National Football League club isn't saying immediately how much.

General manager Vince Lombardi explained to a stockholders' meeting that pro football league organizations have gotten permission from the Internal Revenue Service to postpone filing of income tax statements until details are ironed out concerning merger of the American and National football circuits.

Lombardi said the Packers hope to make a financial report available in 10 days. Copies of the report are initially available to holders of season tickets.

"Both expenses and income were up in 1967," Lombardi said at the meeting of more than 100 stockholders. Packers reported a profit of $827,439 in 1966, the best year in the organization's history.

Lombardi said sale of players to the New Orleans expansion franchise, and an increase in the number of games, boosted the 1967 income as well as costs.

The Green Bay club, he said, is making a study of the football organization's impact on economics of Green Bay and Milwaukee. He made a tentative estimate of $7 million.

He also said there is a chance of a ticket price increase, saying existing price levels on the average are below NFL averages.

Lombardi, who resigned this year as coach to become a full-time general manager, ended his report with: "I shall continue to work for the growth and advancement of the Green Bay Packers, the cities of Green Bay and Milwaukee, and the State of Wisconsin."

Martin Augner and Fred Trowbridge Jr. of Green Bay were named to the Board of Directors, filling two vacancies.

TIJUANA, Mexico—Jose Angel Napollis, 136, Mexico City, outpointed Herbie Lee, 136, Washington, D.C., 4; Reul Soriano, 147, Mexico City, stopped Frankie "Too Sweet" Jennings, 150, Los Angeles, 1.

Cadets Defeat Chuter Track Team, 71 1/2-46 1/2

Slams in Discus, Shot Put Give Premontre Big Edge

GREEN BAY — Depth in the field events paid off for the Premontre High School track team as the Cadets handed Little Chute St. John its first setback of the season, winning 71 1/2-46 1/2 here Monday afternoon.

After the running events and the high jump had been completed, it was still a close meet with the Cadets holding a 44 1/2-37 1/2 lead. Premontre then slammed the discus and shot put to put the meet out of reach.

Individual star of the meet was Todd Austin of St. John who won the high and low hurdles, the high jump and tied for third in the long jump.

One of the most exciting races was the mile which was eventually won by Premontre

North Stars Defeat Blues

Minnesota Cops NHL Playoff Tilt In Overtime, 3-2

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Billy McCreary said the Minnesota North Stars were laying back waiting for something to happen, but when it did it cost them the game.

The happening was McCreary's goal with 17:27 gone in an overtime period and it gave the St. Louis Blues a 3-2 victory over the North Stars Monday night in their Divisional Hockey League West Division playoff game. It also gave the Blues a 3-2 edge in the best-of-7 series with the sixth game to be played Wednesday in Minnesota.

"They were playing a man to man game," McCreary explained, "waiting for a break."

Short Shifts

But the Blues didn't have to wait for breaks. McCreary added Blues' Coach Scotty Bowman worked his lines on short shifts to keep them fresh. That helped, McCreary said.

Terry Crisp had helped St. Louis to its two goals in the first period with sharp assists. He fed Bob Plager for the first goal with less than two minutes gone. Then after Walt McKechnie scored to tie the game, Crisp set up Gary Sabourin.

But the Blues couldn't hold the lead and Bob McCord tied the game with 6:31 gone in the second period. That was it until the overtime.

Seymour Deals Clintonville First Defeat

Scores 4 Runs In 10th Inning of Exhibition Tilt

CLINTONVILLE — Seymour High School exploded for four runs in the top of the 10th inning to deal the Clintonville Trunkers their first defeat of the season, 11-8, in a non-conference slugfest Monday afternoon.

The Indians' victory left the two teams with identical 4-1 season records.

The visitors used three singles and a pair of Trucker errors in the decisive rally that saw eight men bat. Pat Zingler hit a solo homer in the bottom of the 10th for Clintonville.

Clintonville had held a 5-1 advantage in the fourth inning, but Seymour came back to score five times in the fifth to take the lead at 6-5. Paul Hoffman's homer had accounted for three of the Clintonville runs.

The Indians went ahead, 7-5, in the sixth frame and kept the lead until the seventh when Clintonville came up with two runs to tie it, one coming home on a balk.

Mike Main picked up the victory in relief of starting pitcher Mike Main. Bob Wygant was the loser, also in relief of Zingler.

Fontenot four hits in his first appearance in a Foxes uniform. The 22-year-old native of San Fernando, Cal., who was released by the Houston Astros in 1966, had spent the last two years in the army and was wounded in the Vietnamese war. He suffered a shrapnel wound in the shoulder and a punctured foot from a Viet Cong "pungy," but neither wound appears to slow him today.

The Foxes left-fielder got a new lease on his baseball life this spring when an old high school teammate, Buddy Bradford (currently with the parent White Sox) told him of Chicago's need for more outfielders. Fontenot tried out and has been one of the top hitters on the Foxes for the spring.

It was Fontenot's first hit that scored Scott Northey from second with two outs in the fifth inning for the Foxes' first run. Northey had singled.

The Cubs' Alec Distaso, who scattered seven hits through the first six frames, gave up a walk to the O'Neill to start the seventh. That brought in Jerry Donahue. Northey fanned, but Jeff Kolb got on on a Texas league single and Fontenot followed with his shot.

Danny Haynes made it three straight hits with another single and then Donahue departed in favor of Joe Reyda. Gary Kirtlan greeted the new Cub hurler with another single to right, and Art Kusnyer ran the hit string to five by sending a run-scoring single to center.

The rally might have grown to even bigger proportions but Kirtlan was caught in a rundown between second and third on Kusnyer's safety. Raphael Lopez grounded out to end the uprising.

Powless Admits He Seeks to Build Solid Defensive Club

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John Powless, Wisconsin's new head basketball coach, gets a firm grip on the school's player recruitment program today, having acknowledged his interest in firm defense.

"You try to play the percentages, and play both ends of the court," he said Monday. "But first, you have to be solid on the defensive end of the floor."

Powless, named Friday to replace John Erickson as Badger coach, commented on his faith in defense during a telephone conversation from Minneapolis where, as Wisconsin tennis coach, he took his squad for a match with Minnesota.

The 35-year-old former assistant to Erickson said he planned to sit down to the task of recruitment today.

He and fellow assistant Dave Brown had been helping Erickson handle a vigorous recruiting program until Erickson resigned April 3 to become general manager of Milwaukee's National Basketball Association club.

"With a good, solid defense," Powless said, "your team can get the ball without it going through the net every time."

Jucker Influenced "You do your converting at the middle of the floor," he said. "I'd say any manner of fast break in attempting to get the opposition to correct defensively is okay. You can pick up three or four easy baskets that can make the difference."

3 NBA Teams On Search for New Coaches

Warriors, 76ers, Chicago Bulls All Without Mentors

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Alex Hannum, who left his heart in Los Angeles and jobs in San Francisco and Philadelphia, may wind up back in San Francisco. And all because San Francisco's Bill Sharman beat him to Los Angeles.

That was the jumbled situation today as coaching confusion reigned in the National Basketball Association. Three teams were without coaches and their manhunt threatened to steal the spotlight from the Boston-Los Angeles championship play-off.

It was a lost weekend in the NBA after Hannum and Sharman, two of the league's most successful coaches, stepped down at Philadelphia and San Francisco, respectively. Hannum's plans are indefinite while Sharman signed a long-term contract to coach the Los Angeles Stars of the rival American Basketball Association.

Third Opening The third opening is in Chicago, where the Bulls recently lost Coach Red Kerr to the NBA's new Phoenix expansion franchise. College Coaches Ray Meyer of DePaul and George Ireland of Chicago Loyola have turned down the job.

Adding to the confusion was an announcement in San Francisco by Franklin Mieuli, owner of the Warriors, that George Lee, who was Sharman's assistant, has the inside track for the job.

"If Hannum should join us, it would be understood that George would take over in one, two or three years—whenver he's ready," Mieuli said.

Mieuli said he hoped to announce by Wednesday whether Hannum will return to the team he abandoned two years ago as a loser for two pennant-winning seasons in Philadelphia, including one NBA crown.

Sharman returns to the city where he, like Hannum, starred at the University of Southern California.

His deal with the Stars, who played this initial ABA season as the Anaheim Amigos, gives him the opportunity to purchase up to a 10 per cent interest in the club. His lawyer said his coaching contract was for more than five years and for more than the $40,000 he was paid in San Francisco.

Cedar Rapids And Dubuque Score Wins

Dubuque and Cedar Rapids each used late-inning rallies to notch their second victories and tie Appleton for the Midwest League's top spot Monday night.

The Packers, trailing Clinton, 7-2, after six innings, came back to score three runs in the home half of the seventh and added seven more markers in the eighth to win going away, 12-8.

The Cardinals were tied with the Waterloo Hawks 1-1, after seven frames in Waterloo. Cedar Rapids then pushed across with a single run in the eighth and added two insurance markers in the ninth to gain a 4-1 win.

In another ML game, Wisconsin Rapids bounced back from an opening night loss to Decatur to defeat the Commodores, 9-7.

Lam Accepts Scholarship At Marquette

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Guy Lam, an all-state basketball center "who is just beginning to come into his own," has accepted an athletic scholarship at Marquette University.

Lam, 17, saw little action as a junior with Brookfield East, but the 6-foot-8 center averaged 21 points a game for the high school last season, and 12 rebounds a game.

He led East to the Braveland Conference championship, and took scoring and rebound honors in the state WIAA tournament. East won the tourney's consolation title.

Green Bay Man Found Dead on Abandoned Farm Near Seymour

and a third youth is being sought in connection with the stabbing death April 22 of a 29-year-old Green Bay barber whose body was found Monday afternoon on an abandoned farm south of Seymour.

Outagamie County authorities were conferring with Dist. Atty. George Greisch this morning relative to charges in the death of Ronald Wayne Burnham, 1331 S. Chesnut St.

Sheriff's investigators said they obtained signed statements early today from the two youths now in custody in Appleton. Investigators said they believe the third youth, also 17 and a brother of the 19-year-old, may have fled to the Shawano area Monday night. A police pickup bulletin was sent to area counties early today. The brothers formerly lived in the Seymour area.

Two employees of the Seymour Flour Mill found Burnham's bound and bloody body about 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Drive to Farm

Robert Mill, owner, and Valentine Lasecki, both of the Seymour area, drove to the abandoned Milton Peters farm to pick up a load of grain from the barn. The farm is situated about 3½ miles south of Seymour on State 55. Peters lives one-half mile north on another farm.

Mill and Lasecki found the body lying on the cement floor of an old, frame, 12-by-14-foot milkhouse-pumphouse attached to the southwest corner of the barn. The men had to walk through the milkhouse to get into the barn in which Peters stores hay and grain.

Investigators, who did not learn identity of the body until 10:20 p.m. Monday, at Appleton, said Burnham's feet and wrists were bound with binder twine, similar to twine found in the barn. He was lying face up, his hands tied behind his back. There were two stab wounds, one in the abdomen and the other in the chest. The jackknife which authorities believe was used in the stabbing apparently pierced the heart, it was determined through an autopsy at Appleton Memorial Hospital early today.

Burnham's body reportedly bore signs of a beating. The body was clothed in gray slacks, new loafers, a yellow shirt and a beige sweater.

There was no identification, and if Burnham had a wallet, it was missing. Several Seymour area residents were allowed to view the body at the scene, but they were not able to establish identity until Burnham's sister, Mrs. Camille Platkowski, 1370 Dousman St., Green Bay, arrived at the Appleton Memorial Hospital morgue Monday night.

Mrs. Platkowski was brought

New York City Police Evict Students From Barricades

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved in force onto the Columbia University campus at the administration's request early today and routed student demonstrators—sometimes violently—from five barricaded campus buildings to end a week-long sit-in.

More than 100 youths were injured and 638 were arrested, including about 100 women, in the 75-minute police action that began about 2:45 a.m. Fifteen police men were injured, and one of them was hospitalized with a head wound.

Initial Concessions

The demonstration, which began April 23 basically as a protest over construction of a gym in a park adjacent to nearby Harlem, had faded into one of rebellion against Columbia disciplinary procedures after the

2 From Area Lose Lives In Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two girls in a car-train collision have sent Wisconsin's 1968 traffic toll to 315, compared with 255 on this date a year ago.

Sandra Terp, 17, and Lee Ann Fisher, 18, both of Manitowoc, were killed Monday night in the collision of a car and Soo Line train at a crossing in Manitowoc. Three other occupants of the car, driven by Miss Terp, were injured.

Mrs. Betty Johnson, 43, of Green Bay was killed early today when she was struck by a car at a Green Bay intersection.

students won initial concessions. At its height, perhaps 600 to 700 youths were involved, including some nonstudents. The Ivy League school as 27,500 students.

During the police sweep a crowd of nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the Ivy League campus overlooking Harlem. The bystanders clashed with police after the last of the demonstrators had been taken away.

Police used nightsticks freely in breaking up the large crowd and moving it off campus. Mounted police rode into the surging mass and a large coffee shop window on Broadway was broken in the press of the crowd.

Dan Pellegrin, president of the student council, announced to a crowd near the library that he was calling a student strike starting today.

In a statement the university announced cancellation of classes this morning but added, "It is hoped that a number of the afternoon classes can be held."

University President Grayson Kirk told a 6 a.m. news conference that he called police because the university "has been paralyzed by the illegal acts of a minority of its students, aided and abetted by an unknown number of outsiders."

'Near Fatal Blow'

Kirk declared that granting the protester's key demand of amnesty from punishment "would have dealt a near fatal blow not only to this institution but to the whole of American higher education."

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary told newsmen the university had asked police to mobilize about midnight. He said he had witnessed the eviction operation and added the police had done "an excellent job."

By 5:30 a.m. the large crowd had broken up and students stood around in small clusters discussing the night's activities. At one point many on the cam-

Rockefeller Enters Presidential Race

Candidacy Spurred by U. S. 'Crises'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A buoyant Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller shucked off his inhibitions about fighting for the Republican presidential nomination today and arrayed himself openly as an active candidate against Richard M. Nixon.

The 59-year-old millionaire New York governor told a nationally televised news conference that he did so in response to the pleas of many people and because of his own concern about "the gravity of the crises" that confront the American people.

Only 40 days ago, Rockefeller had surprised political observers by announcing he could not bid for the nomination but was available for a draft, if the party wanted him.

'Correct Decision'

He told reporters today that he thought he had made "the correct decision" then and was making "the correct decision now."

In the brief formal statement in which he announced his candidacy, Rockefeller said he was motivated by "the dramatic and unprecedented events of the past weeks."

When asked whether he had been influenced by President Johnson's decision not to seek re-election, he said Johnson's withdrawal opened up an "opportunity for seeking an honorable peace in Asia." He did not elaborate.

Another reporter then asked whether the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King had been a factor in his decision. He replied only that "during the past week to 10 days I have been coming to this decision."

Appears Relaxed

In response to other questions, he said he did not know how many national convention delegates he had behind him at this point. "But," he added, "there is considerable fluidity among the delegates."

Rockefeller appeared relaxed and confident as he stood before a battery of political writers in his jam-packed, tennis-court-sized formal office at the State Capitol.

He was flanked by five former GOP national chairmen — U.S. Sen. Thruston B. Morton, former Rep. William E. Miller, Sen. Hugh Scott, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn—all of whom turned up to demonstrate their support for him.

Massachusetts' Edward Brooke, the only Negro serving in the U.S. Senate, also was at hand, sitting next to Rockefeller's wife.

Shortly before Rockefeller went before the TV cameras, it became known that he had sent

French Heart Patient Dies 51 Hours After Operation

PARIS (AP) — Europe's first heart transplant patient, a 66-year-old retired French truck driver, died today 51½ hours after he was given the heart of a young man. The new organ functioned well, doctors said, but the patient could not overcome an insufficiency of blood to the brain.

Clovis Roblain, succumbed at 10:30 a.m., never having regained consciousness after the transplant. He had undergone a nine-hour operation Saturday night.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, the head of the surgical team at La Pitie Hospital, hinted that Roblain may have been too old to weather the transplant.

"We have learned from this first attempt that technically a transplant is perfectly possible, but that we must have a patient sufficiently resistant to have a chance of success," the physician said.

Another Transplant

He said his team—which had conducted experiments in a hospital basement for lack of space — would go ahead with another heart transplant "if the conditions of a patient who would undergo a transplant are more favorable."

Clovis Roblain

one survivor from the seven human heart transplants which have been reported. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a 58-year old retired South African dentist, who was given a new heart on Jan. 2.

He was discharged from a Cape Town hospital more than six weeks ago and is now reported driving his car in heavy traffic.

At a news conference, Mercadier told reporters:

"What we feared has come about.

"At all times, at every conference I held before you, I told of the greatest reserves on the prognosis. I said this at the first press conference. I repeated this yesterday while moderating a little because we noted some favorable signs.

"We are sorry to have lost a patient. We are not sorry that we went ahead with the transplant."

Without Difficulty

In his first health bulletin Monday, Mercadier said that the transplant was done without difficulty, but that "neurological complications made the prognosis very reserved." He said Roblain had suffered a circulatory failure during the surgery. This temporarily reduced the blood flow to the brain, eventually resulting in death.

Roblain also encountered urinary problems, Mercadier said.

Earlier the doctors reported that Roblain, who received the heart of a 23-year-old man

Pains in Chest Force Ike's Hospitalization

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is hospitalized at this Southern California bomber base for treatment of chest pains.

He was brought here by helicopter Monday night for treatment. An evening medical bulletin said he was suffering "some chest discomfort." But his aide added, "We are not calling this a heart attack."

The 77-year-old General played golf Monday at Palm Springs, near his winter home, but a short time later called in his personal physician. The temperature reached 100 during the day.

Carried on Stretcher

Several hours later, two Army helicopters landed on fairway 11 in front of Eisenhower's home on the Eldorado Country Club course in Palm Desert, near Palm Springs. Twenty minutes later, Eisenhower was being carried into the hospital on a stretcher.

His aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, issued this statement later:

"Some chest discomfort was noted earlier today. The doctors all feel it best for a period of medical observation and bed rest."

Word that Eisenhower was ill came after he had canceled plans to greet King Olav V of Norway, who is on a state visit in California.

A source close to Eisenhower said the former President had been "pretty busy the last couple of days, and he apparently overextended himself. The activity and the heat seemed to have tired him."

Mamie Stays Home

Eisenhower's wife, Mamie, stayed at their winter home. The couple has planned to leave May 6 for their farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Although Eisenhower has been generally healthy and vigorous, he has suffered a series of illnesses since 1955.

He suffered a heart attack in 1955 while President, an attack of ileitis, an intestinal blockage, in 1956 and another heart attack in 1965. In 1957 he had a mild stroke. In 1966 his gall bladder was removed.

Witnesses at the hospital said he appeared pale but conscious.

At the hospital, an elevator was held on the ground floor for 20 minutes to whisk Eisenhower to his room.

As he was carried through the lobby, a nurse held a bottle of fluid running to his arm.

Schultz said, "Up to today, his general health was fine. The decision to take him to the hospital was made by several doctors. I do not believe he was suffering discomfort when he left."

Eisenhower decided not to meet with King Olav because "he didn't feel up to it," the former President's secretary, Army Lt. Nancy Jensen, said.

She said Eisenhower had been "feeling very well" in the morning when he played golf but that he broke his daily custom of going to his office on the nearby ranch of Floyd Odium.

President Calls for World 'Paper Gold'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to approve what he termed a landmark plan to create new international money—paper gold—and coupled his request with another plea for higher taxes.

In a special message, Johnson sought approval of amendments to the International Monetary Fund's Articles of Agreement distributed to governments of the non-Communist world earlier this month.

"As one of the leaders in the formulation of this proposal, it is fitting that the United States be one of the first nations to accept the Special Drawing Rights Plan," the President said.

Bookkeeping Entry

The new money would be in the form of a bookkeeping entry at the International Monetary Fund and would be used only to settle debts among governments. Individual Americans would never see the paper gold as the proposed special drawing rights are frequently called.

The plan must be approved by 65 member nations of the 107-Nation Fund with 80 per cent of the weighted vote.

Approval by Congress would represent a big step in this direction since the United States controls about 22 per cent of the votes in the fund.

This approval, however, will merely set up the machinery for the new money which would supplement gold, dollars and British pounds as world reserves.

Actual creation of the new money and how much to establish would take another IMF vote and require an 85 per cent majority, a percentage giving the United States and the six European Common Market countries a veto.

Administration officials foresee no opposition to the plan in Congress which has been kept advised of progress during the five years of negotiation leading to drafting of the new language.

In his message, Johnson said the new money would be needed as the United States moves to end its balance of payments deficit.

Consumers Favor Wisconsin Cheese

But Producers Told Nutritional Value No Longer a Sales Point

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin cheese remains the prince of the dairy case, but its nutritional value is losing its punch among consumers, the 4th annual Wisconsin Cheese Seminar was told Monday.

More than 280 persons are attending the two-day meeting to discuss the state's annual output of about 800 million pounds of cheese—58 per cent of it natural cheese and 42 per cent processed cheese.

Harold C. Steinke of New York, executive vice president of the Borden Foods Co. cheese division, told the seminar that consumers "can afford more than they can eat, so they are not looking for food bargains in nutrition."

Will Pay Price

Consumers, he said, "are willing to pay the price for butter or milk when they want nutrition," but are not as concerned about obtaining nutrition through cheese.

Steinke, formerly of Plymouth, Wis., said this means an increase in the production and variety of spreads which taste like cheese, but which lack the nutritional value of cheese.

Wisconsin cheese continues to have outstanding flavor, he said, crediting the state's high-grade sanitation standards. He called Wisconsin the nation's leader in cheese quality.

Wisconsin Name

Producers at Borden, he said, "purposely add the word 'Wisconsin' or 'made in Wisconsin' because we know people prefer Wisconsin cheese."

Daniel Carter of Mayville, representing Purity Cheese Co., said a recent survey in the East indicates Wisconsin cheese is preferred among shoppers.

Most persons, he said, "think Wisconsin cheese is superior, and they want it whenever they can get it."

The seminar is sponsored by the Wisconsin Cheesemakers Association and the state's Agriculture Department.

Coins Stolen At New London

Collection Valued At Several Hundred Dollars Taken Friday

WAUPACA — A coin collection valued at several hundred dollars was taken from the home of Gordon Burmeister, route 1, New London, according to Waupaca County undersheriff Loran Frazier.

The collection was taken sometime Friday while the family was away from home. Entry was gained through a window and the thief left by the front door, authorities said.

Included in the collection were 15 coin folders which contained Indian head pennies, Lincoln pennies, mercury dimes, Roosevelt dimes plus nickels and quarters. Paper money taken included 28 one-dollar silver certificates, one $5 silver certificate and a $10 gold certificate.

Two children's banks containing approximately $20 in change also were taken.

Former Waupaca Man Held for Non-Support

WAUPACA — Howard C. Foley, 40, Sheboygan, was bound over to County Court for trial Monday when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court on a charge of non-support.

Unable to post a $500 bond, he was returned to the county jail where he has been held since his arrest Saturday.

Police, Skin Divers Search Canal Yields Rusty Arsenal

Outagamie County authorities along with Merrill police and two skin divers fished stolen guns from the partially-drained government canal between S. Oneida and S. Lawe Streets Sunday morning.

County authorities said they and Merrill police have a suspect in the theft of the guns from a Merrill sport shop last September.

Sheriff's investigators said the suspect, whom they did not identify, may also be tied in with several recent major crimes in Outagamie, Calumet, and Winnebago Counties. They did not elaborate, but said that an extensive investigation is continuing. Authorities said the investigation has been underway for several weeks.

Found Near Cottage

Investigators did not reveal how they obtained information that the stolen guns were in the deep canal. However, Lt. Jack Zuelzke, who coordinated Sunday's search along with Sheriff Norbert Marx, explained that Merrill police had been here recently on the investigation.

A large quantity of rifles, shotguns, ammunition and small items were taken last Sept. 16 or 17. Investigators said one of the stolen guns was found earlier near a Lake Winnebago cottage that was being razed.

That gun, Zuelzke said, may have been used in the armed holdup in the parking lot at Koehnke's Supper Club last fall. It was shortly after the robbery that fire leveled the supper club located on U. S. 41, north of Neenah, in Winnebago County. Arson and burglary were suspected.

Merrill Police Chief Gerald Ploutz brought several of his officers and skin divers from Merrill and Tomahawk here for the search.

Deep Water

Marx and Zuelzke said that the Appleton project office of the Corps of Engineers co-operated by draining a portion of the canal early Sunday morning. Although much of the canal was free of water by 8 a.m., from two to five feet of water remained in low spots.

It was in the deep water that the four guns were found. A sheriff's deputy found the first gun at 8:30 a.m. The 16 gauge shotgun was covered with rust which investigators removed with clear water and sandpaper. Skin divers found the other three guns, including a .410 gauge shotgun and two .35 caliber rifles. The stocks were missing from both rifles.

Authorities said that the

$31,953 Grant Okayed for Mosquito Hill Park Land

Outagamie To Purchase 392 Acres

WASHINGTON — A federal grant of $31,953 has been allocated to Outagamie County by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in Land and Water Conservation (LAWCON) funds for the purchase of Mosquito Hill Park 8th Dist. Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, reported Monday.

The funds will go toward the purchase of the 392 acre park site between County Trunk S and the Wolf River, two miles east of New London.

The county has 371 acres under option at a total price of $77,750. A 20-acre parcel, appraised at $3,189, and two one-acre parcels remain to be secured.

Purchase Property

In addition to the federal grant, a citizens group has given the county $11,000 toward purchase of the property. The Outagamie County Board has set aside $50,000 for its share of the project, although all of that amount apparently will not be needed now.

Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, chairman of the board's park and recreation committee, said he expected it would be about 10 days before the county received the formal "letter of consent" for the federal funds. However, the county can start exercising the options prior to actual receipt of the federal funds.

Approval of the federal grant climaxes more than two years of efforts of the parks and recreation committee to obtain the hill for a country park site. Indications are the project still will not be completed for a number of months.

Costs Prohibitive

The original park proposal was for 463 acres. This was cut back to the 392 acres because of the cost of some of the parcels involved.

First formal action on the park came on Jan. 5, 1966, when the executive committee recommended making application for federal aid toward purchase of the land under the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Toured Site

No further action was taken on the park project until September, 1967, when the board allocated $6,000 for option money, with approval coming on a promise by Supv. Joseph De Bruin, Town of Buchanan, then parks committee chairman, that the project would be dropped if

Centennial Planning Starts

Whiskers Grow in Seymour

SEYMOUR — Chin whiskers will soon be the order of the day here as the city prepares to observe its 100th birthday this fall. The official celebration has been scheduled for the weekend following Labor Day or Sept. 6-8.

The movement has the blessings of the city council which is financially backing the civic celebration.

The Bearded Gents have organized and named James Steward as president and Joseph Trembl, secretary-treasurer. Tom Seidl will represent the executive committee.

The centennial women's organization will be organized at a meeting at the municipal building at 8 p.m. today. They will elect officers, briefly discuss the women's role in the observance and set a future date for further organizing.

Maynard Amusements of Waupaca has been hired to provide carnival rides in the parking lots behind the Seymour Hotel and Hittner Clinic.

Although many of the details have yet to be formulated a kiddies day has been set for Saturday on the centennial weekend. Mary Hoff and Norman Boettcher have been named co-chairman of the kiddie parade that day.

Church Services

Beards will be judged Saturday evening. The beard growing contest officially begins May 1.

Seymour pastors will be asked to develop special centennial services in the churches on Sunday morning. Mack Miller will be chairman of the centennial parade Sunday afternoon. The centennial ball will be Sunday evening at Hotel Seymour.

A display of centennial artifacts already is on exhibit at the Seymour Library.

The centennial executive committee earlier conferred with Gordon Kaphingst and Roy Brandt about details of Black Creek's centennial observance several years ago.

Sixth District Caucus

Steiger Endorsed For Second Term

FOND DU LAC — Caucusing to afford it — the old, the disabled, the poor, the disadvantaged in our society.

"We must change the leadership of this country if we are to restore financial stability, if we are to halt the balance of payment deficit, if we are to stabilize our economy and maintain the stability of the dollar," Steiger said.

He reaffirmed his stand in support of Richard Nixon as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. "I think that Nelson Rockefeller is a fine governor but I think Dick Nixon would make a better candidate and president."

Steiger said he anticipates a rigorous campaign in opposing John A. Race, the man whom he defeated two years ago. "Traditionally the Sixth District is Republican during a presidential year but we have to look back to 1964 when Race was successful. In 1965 I received only 52 per cent of the vote so I am sure that we can look forward to a very extensive and intensive campaign," Steiger explained.

He predicted that the major issue will be economic status of the nation.

In his acceptance speech Steiger pointed to the cost of living increases which he said is "perhaps the most clearcut example of the cruel hoax of the Johnson-Humphrey administration."

Cost of Living

He said the cost of living increase is a hidden tax which falls hardest on those least able

Waupaca Girl Jailed After Car Damage

WAUPACA — When an 18-year-old Waupaca girl failed in her first attempt to be jailed early Sunday morning, she threw stones at the jailer's car, broke off the radio antenna and then created a disturbance inside the jail. A matron was called and she was finally placed in a cell.

The girl walked into the county jail at approximately 5 a.m. and asked Jailer Adrian Tomlin to lock her up. When he refused she went outside and damaged the car. A city patrolman attempted to persuade her to go home. She refused, then caused trouble in the radio room and was detained.

Monday the girl was taken before County Judge Wendell McHenry and was committed to Winnebago State Hospital.

New London Boy Suffers Head Injury in Crash

NEW LONDON — An 18-year-old youth sustained a concussion in a motor bike accident at 3:20 p.m. Saturday on Wolf River Avenue at Riverside Park.

Robert Procknow, 103½ S. Pearl St., was treated at Community Hospital after being taken there by Borchardt and Moder ambulance. Allen L. Rice, 21, 217½ Wisconsin St., driver of the bike, was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

City police said Rice was driving on Wolf River Avenue when the bike hit loose gravel and caused the driver to lose control.

Fire Destroys Barn, Cattle Near Fremont

Blaze Discovered by Motorist; Two Fire Departments Called

FREMONT — Fire discovered at approximately 2:30 a.m. destroyed a stock barn on the Wilmur Priebernaw farm, route 1, Fremont.

Eighteen head of cattle a grain elevator and two mows filled with hay and one with straw also were destroyed.

A motorist, identified as James Clark, saw the fire from the highway and roused the Priebernaws.

The Wolf River Fire Department was first at the scene with one truck and fought the barn blaze until the water supply gave out. The Fremont Rural Fire Department arrived with the trucks in time to take over and save several outbuildings, one of which was already burning. Firemen were at the scene for more than two hours.

Mrs. Priebernaw and her son were awake at about 1:30 a.m. and saw no signs of a fire at that time. The Priebernaws carried insurance but do not know if the loss was fully covered.

Formal Negotiations Predict Settlement In Telephone Strike

A spokesman for the Communication Workers of America AFL-CIO, predicted here today that a settlement of the strike against the Wisconsin Telephone Co. might come this week.

Gene Van Ryzin, president of Appleton Local 5521, said he contacted state union headquarters at Milwaukee this morning and learned that bargaining committees were in formal negotiations.

"I would say it looks favorable for some break by the middle of the week," Van Ryzin said.

However, he said should the strike not be settled by then, arrangements have been made to have a rally of strikers from Green Bay, Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac here Thursday or Friday.

Attend Rally

"Arrangements have been made for a representative of the International Union to attend," Van Ryzin said.

An estimated 285 operators, clerks and maintenance employees at the Appleton office have been on strike for two weeks.

Asked whether there were any incidences in which outside girls were being "imported", Van Ryzin said the union had no evidence, adding, "However those on the picket lines claim they have been seeing strange faces entering the building here and suspect they may be from the outside."

The charge was leveled last week by a state union official.

Waupaca to Hold Clean-Up Week

WAUPACA — Mayor Lloyd Matheson has proclaimed May 6 to 13 "Spring Cleanup and Fixup Week".

City crews will make two curb pickups, the first on May 6 and the other the last day of the campaign. Residents have been asked to bundle papers but not to make bundles any larger than one man can handle.

Which Direction?

How to check rising crime, and how best to achieve the goal of equal rights and responsibilities for all citizens, are high priority problems for our nation.

Many Americans, perhaps most of them, believe the answers lie in more and better education for everyone, improved housing, equal employment opportunities, organized public and private efforts to eliminate conditions that breed crime and human misery.

All of these call for building a better society, in physical terms and in terms of mental attitudes that will unite the country in achieving solutions. Yet a relatively small number seek "instant" cures, challenging the institutions and processes of government. They advocate civil disobedience, organized protests in various forms. A few even espouse and promote rioting and violence.

The message of Law Day USA this year reminds us that we cannot build by destroying. We cannot strengthen some freedoms by weakening others. In our communities, and in the nation, we can only advance through united action within the framework of law.

It is a message to all Americans, worth noting and remembering.

Five Members Of Family Hurt In 2-Car Crash

Accident Occurs Sunday Afternoon Near Greenville

Five members of a Kenosha family were among six persons injured in a two-car accident about 3:45 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 45, just west of Greenville.

State police said that cars involved in the mishap were driven by Steven L. Stolper, 17, Barron, and Richard Wells, 37, Kenosha. Both drivers suffered minor injuries.

Taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance were Mrs. Wells, 34, who suffered leg, mouth, and nose injuries; and four Wells children, who suffered various cuts, bumps, and bruises.

Police said Stolper was attempting to pass another auto on a hill while southbound on 45. The Wells car was approaching from the south, police said. When Stolper tried to get back into his lane, the right wheels went onto the shoulder, police said, and the auto skidded broadside into the path of the Wells auto.

Damage was extensive. Police charged Stolper with passing on a hill.

Sharon Spierings, 22, 622 N. Appleton St., was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by ambulance after her car overturned on Buchanan Road, two miles south of Little Chute, about 11:15 p.m. Sunday.

County police said she suffered head and neck injuries and a knee laceration. A passenger, John Garvey, route 2, West De Pere, was not injured.

Police said she was northbound when her 1961 auto went out of control, rolled and came to rest on its wheels in a field.

Work on County Sanitary Code Near Completion

A final reworking of the proposed Outagamie County sanitary code is expected to be completed by the zoning committee Wednesday morning.

The sanitary code, which affects all unincorporated areas of the county, has twice been referred back to committee for study. However, passage is expected at the May 14 board session.

Private wells, septic tanks and other private sewage disposal systems are governed by the sanitary code. Objections had been raised by some rural supervisors over the provisions requiring a permit to do minor repair work on water systems, particularly on well pumps.

Outagamie Gets Parks Site Funds

However, efforts by the parks committee to have $150,000 included in the 1968 county budget for the purchase and start of development of the park failed after members of the county board made an inspection trip to the site last November.

At that time a dispute developed over efforts to get an option on a 39-acre parcel of land, with a home, owned by Raymond Kamps. This was later resolved by permitting Kamps to keep the house and 10 acres of surrounding land.

Efforts toward taking final action on the proposal were rejected by the board in December and January but in February supervisors approved $50,000 as the county's share of purchasing the land, on the condition there would be no immediate development.

A gradual change in attitude was indicated on the part of the county board when, on April 18, supervisors gave the parks and recreation committee authority to go to condemnation proceedings, if necessary, to obtain the last 20-acre parcel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Magolski. The committee indicated condemnation would be used only as a last resort.

Driver Pinned In Car After Accident

Hortonville Woman Hurt When Truck And Auto Collide

Marjorie Stalker, route 1, Hortonville, was taken by Lindy's Ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after she was pinned for about 15 minutes in the wreckage of her car after it struck a truck about 8:10 a.m. Monday on Outagamie County Trunk O, a mile west of Mackville.

Outagamie County police, following preliminary investigation, said the woman suffered injuries to her knee, back, and chest, in addition to cuts and bruises.

Police said she was westbound on O when her car crossed the center line and sideswiped an eastbound truck driven by Charles Kohl, 19, 4730 N. Lynndale Drive. The truck, owned by Mueller Lumber Co., route 2, Appleton, was loaded with lumber. The vehicle tipped over in a south ditch which was partially filled with water.

It was not immediately determined if Kohl was injured. His family said he went to a hospital for examination.

Police said Mrs. Stalker was pinned behind the steering wheel of her car, which also ended up in the south ditch. Police estimated damage at $7,000.

New London Elementary System Claimed To be Less Costly to Install, Operate

NEW LONDON — A rooftop mounted heating system was approved by the board of education at a special meeting Monday with the architectural firm designing the new elementary school.

Board members selected the roof-type system over the central air heating system. H. James Gabriel, representative of Edgar A. Stubenrauch & Associates, Sheboygan architectural firm, said the systems were about equal in efficiency, but the roof-type operation would be less costly to install and to operate.

The firm estimated the cost of the central air system at $2.20 per square foot without air conditioning and $2.95 per square foot with air conditioning. Cost of the roof located system was estimated at $2 a square foot without air conditioning and $2.50 with air conditioning.

Six Needed

Gabriel said that about six of the roof type units would be needed to adequately heat and ventilate the school which will be about 31,000 square feet in size.

Cost of the roof type system has been estimated at between $6,200 and $13,950 less than the central air type heating.

Gabriel said the roof-type system would be visible from outside the building and would require a means of concealing the unit so that it will not detract from the school's appearance.

He said this could be accomplished by constructing a false screen around the units which would blend in with the rest of the structure.

The board approved the roof system, including air conditioning in the bid forms as an alternate item which may be included in original construction at the discretion of the board when contracts are awarded for building.

Gabriel also showed a revised floor plan. Plans showed 13 classrooms, an art room, music room, kindergarten room, special education room, multi-purpose room and library.

The plan also has several storage and janitorial areas, a serving kitchen off the multi-purpose room, an office area and conference rooms.

Council Okays Zoning Change At Clintonville

Action Follows Public Hearing On Duplex Homes

CLINTONVILLE — A proposal to amend the zoning ordinance to include one-story duplex dwellings and prescribe lot size requirements was approved Monday night after a public hearing.

A special meeting of the city council conducted the hearing, to consider the ordinance covering the recommendation previously presented by the planning commission.

The council suspended the rules and unanimously adopted the proposed ordinance. The ordinance will be in effect upon publication.

In other action the council confirmed the appointments of Mayor Frank Sinkewicz for a new board of zoning appeals consisting of Coy Deming for one year, Adolph Buelow and Walter Mantin for two years, and Russell Weller and Patrick Wicker for three years.

Council President Edward Wanta presided Monday night in the absence of Mayor Sinkewicz.

Waupaca Court Grants Divorce

WAUPACA — Karen M. McIntyre, 22, 612 W. Fulton St., Waupaca, was granted a divorce from James K. McIntyre, 24, King, April 26, by County Judge Wendell McHenry.

Mrs. McIntyre charged cruel and inhuman treatment. The couple married Aug. 3, 1963, and separated Sept. 1, 1967. They have two children and McIntyre was ordered to pay $30 per week support for the children. Mrs. McIntyre did not request alimony. A property settlement was ordered.

The dispute hinges on money for demands of an estimated 500 masons in a new three-year contract to replace the old pact serial numbers of all but the 410 gauge matched the numbers of the guns taken in the Merrill burglary. The number of the fourth gun was not immediately known, although the description matched that of a gun taken at Merrill. All four guns were turned over to Merrill police, who are expected to bring charges in connection with the burglary. Zuelzke said there may be more guns in the muddy canal bottom, but dirty water and a large amount of bottom debris prevented a more thorough search. Skin divers had to "feel" along the canal bottom and deputies wearing waders used rakes.

Appleton police recovered 15 bicycles from the drained canal. The bicycles, most of them stripped of parts, had been stolen and abandoned in the canal, police said. Most were in poor condition.

Authorities also found a variety of "junk" on the canal bottom, and at times shared the murky water with curious carp. Two rusty containers that may have been cash boxes were among the recovered items.

The Corps of Engineers took advantage of the low water to make minor repairs on the canal walls Sunday. The canal was re-filled late in the afternoon.

Contractors, Masons Still Deadlocked

No New Talks Are Scheduled as Strike Enters Fourth Week

The Fox Valley Contractors Association and union masons were at a complete standoff today as the strike of bricklayers and cement finishers entered its fourth week.

Construction has been hampered in a 20-county area from Fond du Lac to the Wisconsin-Michigan line since the walkout began April 8.

"There is nothing new to report," was the comment of Merle Phalen, Fond du Lac, chief spokesman for the contractors.

Union officials could not be reached to comment.

A check with the district office of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service at Green Bay disclosed no new contract talks have been scheduled between the parties.

Inquest Set On Death Of Cyclist

A six-man coroner's jury will hear testimony Thursday on the traffic death April 8 of Michael Verhagen, 25, 2419½ S. Jackson St.

Verhagen died of injuries sustained April 5 in an accident at N. Meade and E. Commercial streets. His northbound cycle collided with a southbound auto driven by Mrs. Loretta Andrews, 900 E. Winnebago St.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said Dist. Atty. George Greisch and four witnesses will be called. The inquest starts at 3 p.m. in the Circuit Court room at the courthouse.

Witnesses expected to be called include James Guckenberg, of rural Neenah, who arrived at the scene shortly after the 8:15 p.m. accident; Mrs. Andrews; and Appleton Patrolmen Carlton Bork and Arnold Nettekoven, who investigated the mishap.

which expired April 1.

However, Phalen did indicate he would be in touch with the mediators Tuesday or Wednesday to see whether another meeting would be worthwhile.

Union and management met for two hours here last week and the contractors turned down a revised proposal of the masons.

"One man's food is another man's poison."

Over 2000 years ago this expression of opinion was made by a Roman philosopher, Lucilius. It was made in reference to one of mankind's most persistent ailments — allergies.

What the Roman philosopher did not realize, however, was that one man's blanket, mattress, pet and garden, along with literally thousands of other everyday items, can also be another man's poison.

Allergies come from five general groupings: food . . . any and all different kinds; plant and animal emanation; animal dandruff; objects of contact and bacteria.

No one, however, is allergic to the fastidious service you will find at UMMUTH'S DRUG STORE . . . where you will find your patronage is appreciated . . . 208 E. Wisconsin Ave. . . Phone 734-7371.
